Expression of SPIRIT

Throughout the 65 years that Anaheim High School has existed, much honor has been brought to its campus by the success and achievement of its students. At the very basis of this success is a unique SPIRIT which has developed through the decades and which is found in every facet of the school's life. This SPIRIT is a combination of deep pride in and loyalty to the school and its traditions, devotion to high standards, courage in the face of challenge, and a burning enthusiasm, zeal, and earnestness to accomplish worthwhile goals.

The EXPRESSION of this feeling, which each year unites the students and faculty at Anaheim, is found in the specific, tangible accomplishments that are realized by the individual, group, and team. Academics, athletics, music, forensics, drama, publications, and student government each uses the SPIRIT in its own way to provide valuable experience for its participants and to set high ideals for future generations.

During the 1962-63 school year, students at Anaheim inherited, kept alive, and promoted this SPIRIT in hopes that it would continue to live as a motivating force within the walls of their alma mater.

Q. And, I have been wanting to meet you so long. But it's kind of late. Oh well I'll see you all the time in the world. Love ya Pam

Campus Scenes

Keep Memories Alive

To seniors leaving Anaheim this year and to underclassmen looking back on 1962-63, these scenes, presenting different areas of the campus, stimulate memories of busy, event-filled years. Representing the old and traditional at Anaheim is the well-known iron fenced pond and statue which will be replaced during the 1963-64 school year by a newer fountain. Representing the new is the lunch area, completed this year, with its modern benches, landscaping, and bulletin boards.

International pressures affect campus life

Waiting—A part of every student's life

ACADEMICS

Encouraged Excellence

Presenting a portion of the many different fields of study offered at AHS are these classroom scenes. Science, English, and Senior Problems are subjects taken by each student sometime during his three years at Anaheim, while art, music, and study hall are a few of the electives offered.

An integral part of any classroom situation is the teacher. Representing the dedication and SPIRIT of Anaheim's faculty is Mrs. Faye Kern Schultz. Mrs. Schultz graduated from Anaheim High herself in 1918 and began teaching here in 1922 making this her 41st and final year. The combination of knowledge, a searching mind, patience, and the desire to help each student achieve his best has made Mrs. Schultz loved and respected by all who have known her.

This dedicated teacher guidance together with the finest and largest selection of facilities a school could offer, produced academics that truly encouraged excellence.

TRADITIONALLY SPIRITED

Anaheim students this year had the chance to express their SPIRIT to the very fullest when the Colonist football team, after securing the Sunset League title, traveled all the way to the 'AAAA' division CIF finals and put forth an earnest fight against Loyola High School. Throughout the entire football season, the student body supported their team with record attendance at all games, enthusiastic pep-rallies and assemblies, and clever pep signs and cards.

Also adding laurels to the Anaheim name, this year's varsity basketball team again brought home the league championship.

We're from Anaheim, couldn't be prouder!

A new tradition created

Our Expression of SPIRIT

Incorporating school and district administrators, faculty, counselors, special services, and student government, the administration at Anaheim High fostered SPIRIT through personal assistance to each student.

Teachers, above all, had the opportunity to encourage and promote in each student a desire to learn and to help the individual find himself, his abilities, and his interests. Many faculty members and administrators took on the added responsibility of a student club, committee, or special activity sponsorship in order to offer personal assistance outside the classroom.

By expressing Anaheim's SPIRIT themselves, members of administration acted as an example and an inspiration.

Congratulations, Colonists—

It is a real pleasure to pay tribute here to the record you have achieved and to express the hope that you will long continue to bring honor to your school. The spirit that has permeated the Blue and Gold's myriad achievements in every area of school endeavor has long been widely recognized throughout Southern California, to say nothing of your Sunset League rivals. It is that spirit—the joint attitudes of students and graduates—that is reflected in your athletic prowess, your fine student government, your merit scholars, your outstanding marching band and drill team, and a host of others. May it continue to find expression in your competence as graduates and in the efforts of those who follow you

Cordially,

AUHS DISTRICT CO-ORDINATED by COOK and BOARD

Preparing to begin a Thursday night AUHS Board meeting are board members Royal C. Martin, Raymond B.

Terry, president; Ben Schroeder, Dr. Kenneth Heuler, and William Almond

Virtually unknown are the five members of the school board who have helped greatly the success of AHS. The board members work many long, payless hours every Thursday night efficiently setting policies for five high schools and ten junior high schools. The results of their efforts have proved their capabilities. They have made the Anaheim Union High School District one of the most successful in the state.

Some of the matters discussed in the past year include administrative policies, employment, expansion, and financial affairs.

Principal's First Year Successful

CHESTER R. SHIRK
PRINCIPAL

This Annual is an expression of the spirit of Anaheim High School, produced in a form which will constantly recall the activities, achievements, and memories of this very important period of time in students' lives. The spirit one expresses shows in many ways and is a most revealing thing, even in such little things as the expression on one's face while sitting in class or walking down the hall, and friendliness in meeting people or in loudly and loyally supporting a team. It can show an attitude of success or failure, determination, calmness, ever indicating one's innermost feelings. In much the same way as an individual is judged by the way his spirit shows, a school is also judged by the spirit expressed, and the attitude manifested by its students, whether at school, at home, or in the community.

The students of Anaheim are fortunate in having so many opportunities for study, activity, development, and for expression of their fine spirit. May the seniors of 1963 long remember their alma mater and establish in their own lives high standards of action, and show appreciation of the privilege of living in a country where freedom to express spirit is an underlying principle

Vice-Principals

Serve First Year

JAMES McNAMARA
BOYS' VICE-PRINCIPAL

Moving up from the post of attendance counselor, well-liked James McNamara served his first year as boys' vice-principal. Due to the district expansion program and the retirement of last year's principal McNamara is the only top level administrator remaining from last year.

Male discipline was the major responsibility of the boys' vice-principal, but his duties entailed far more than that one aspect. Campus supervision, parent conferences, classroom visitation, the study of curriculum revision, and the improvement of instruction were all part of the dean's daily routine. Mr. McNamara also worked to improve the relationships between home and school and planned fire and civil defense drills.

MISS DANA CHRISTESEN
GIRLS' VICE-PRINCIPAL

Cooperation, friendliness, and harmony on the campus were three reasons why Miss Dana Christesen liked Anaheim High School. According to her, a friendly and well-groomed campus has helped to make AHS a great school. Miss Christensen states that the high standards and traditions at Anahi during '62-'63 helped bring forth a better teacher-student relationship as well as inspiring a more spirited student body. Her personal conferences kept her in close contact with the immediate needs of all Connies.

Although her major activity was establishing girls' discipline, Miss Christesen had many more jobs including setting up the entire school's daily schedule. She was also Girls' League sponsor, dress board adviser, and was in charge of the office staff.

Counselors, Social Studies Teachers Plan For Future

During the three years that most students spend at AHS they meet new friends, study under many teachers, and participate in various activities, yet one thing remains constant — their counselors. The counselors administered a variety of tests that were helpful in planning for future occupations. Their aim was that every student would attain maximum potential. Their concern, help, and understanding in the forms of programming, personal advice, help with college preparations, or short sessions of just plain talk were appreciated by every Colonist.

Films were one of the methods used in teaching social studies.

Among the most important classes offered at AHS were those dealing with the social sciences. U.S. history, required of juniors, dealt with the development of our country. American government, a one-semester senior course, gave knowledge of governmental and political practices, while senior problems appealed to those whose interests lay in group relations, personalities, and society. To those with individual interests world history, international relations, current affairs, and geography were offered.

Under department head Fred Myers, the English department at AHS offered students an opportunity to experience all facets of learning in our native tongue. Required of all juniors and sophomores were English II and III; both college preparatory and non-college preparatory classes were taught. For those who wished to specialize, theater arts, journalism, speech and public speaking, modern literature, often referred to as English IV, and reading improvement were offered. The Colony library, which boasted some 12,000 volumes, provided an ample source of reference for the entire English department.

LANGUAGE FOSTERS CULTURE. HOMEMAKING, SHOPS FULFILL ANAHEIM STUDENTS' NEED

The Industrial Arts department offered both pre-college and vocational training courses. Those who desired a job following graduation were given training and experience in such skills as auto mechanics, print shop, metal, and wood shops. Pupils learned the use of machines employed in their specific vocational field and completed projects of their own. College-bound students found mechanical drawing and electronics useful.

Douglas Allan taught drafting, one of the many courses in Industrial Arts offered at AHS.

Very important is the need for communication with and understanding of peoples of other cultures and languages. AHS met the challenge by offering four years training in French, German, Latin, and Spanish. Foundations for reading literary scientific and professional articles were developed in each respective language. Providing ear training and help with oral expression were the newly installed language labs.

Art, Music, Physical Ed. Offer Students Varied, Interesting Classes

The art department offered training in the fundamentals of art crafts, commercial art, photography, drawing, and painting. This department added "spice" to many an individual's schedule.

The music department offered every student a wide variety of musical experiences. For those who enjoyed actual participation, Mozart, A Cappella, and the marching and concert bands were open, along with many other groups, both vocal and instrumental. For those with individual interests, harmony, music history, and music appreciation were offered.

Six semesters of physical education were required of each student with a variety of games being taught. Besides inter-school athletics, such courses as GAA, adaptives, and drill team were available. Vigorous conditioning programs were conducted for the purpose of promoting physical fitness. Highly skilled athletes were given the chance to develop their fullest potential through such sports as football, basketball, baseball, track, cross country, swimming, waterpolo, wrestling, gymnastics, golf, tennis, volleyball, badminton, archery, and hockey.

Training for the future was the keynote of the business department.
Through its many courses, ranging from shorthand and typing to specialized fields such as retail merchandising, business law, and business machines, the department prepared many students for direct entry into the complex business world.
Training was also provided in the form of clerking, bookkeeping, stenography, selling, business correspondence, and secretarial work.

Behind-the-wheel training in driver education contributed to the class.

Required of all sophomores for high school graduation were driver education and health science. Driver education courses stressed safety and caution. By meeting certain standards students were free to take the driver training phase of the program, actual automobile driving in various traffic situations.
Health science was designed to meet the changing health needs and interests of high school students. It placed emphasis upon all aspects of health that best contributed to improvement of personal and community health.

Carl Crane advises a pupil as to the use of a business machine.

Fulfilling either graduation or college entrance requirements, a wide variety of scientific courses were offered to all students. Such courses as life-physical science, biology, chemistry, and physics were available. Excellent lab facilities made all classes more enjoyable and facilitated the learning processes. A special experimental class, Chem Study, was given in the field of chemistry; it concentrated on laboratory work and application of principles learned in that area.

Colonists were afforded ample opportunities to perform experiments in the many science labs

Mathematics, required not only for college entrance but for success in many endeavors, was available in all its varieties at AHS. For those who desired only a background in the subject such courses as basic mathematics and first year algebra were offered, while college-bound students studied plane geometry, advanced algebra, trigonometry, and analytical geometry. By inserting new materials into its more traditional courses, the Anaheim mathematics department, under the direction of Miss Marjorie Pibel, informed students of new developments while providing them with the necessary fundamentals of math—the oldest and youngest science.

Frank led Student Body to High Goals

Paul Frank, Student Body president, with his well rounded knowledge of campus life, proved an unbiased chief of the '62-'63 Anaheim student body. Public relations between students and faculty as well as between school and community kept him in a constant state of business. Besides his regular duties of presiding over all student cabinet meetings, coordinating the jobs of cabinet members, and leading school assemblies, he was a representative to the California Association of Student Councils and member of the Intra-District Council. He also attended an annual seminar on the subject of Easter Week Problems held in Newport Beach.

Student government can be purposeful, or it can be meaningless; the key to the ideal situation lies in the assumption of individual responsibility—the most important ingredient for success in any form of government, whether it be of local or national scope. At Anaheim High, student government is not only the medium through which views and opinions may be presented to the administration of the school, but more important, it is a vehicle for the further education of its participants, teaching the valuable lessons of responsibility and leadership.

In keeping with past tradition, the 11-member student cabinet found itself in what seemed a constant state of controversy while attempting to administer supposedly routine campus legislation.

Cabinet's varied accomplishments for '62-'63 included initiation of daily lunch-time meetings, preparation of the student body budget, supervision of student body card sales, sponsorship of the Service Point Banquet, and supervision of student body elections. In addition, cabinet sponsored the newly-created Frank Kellogg Scholarship Fund, drew up plans and completed the ground work for a fountain which will replace the old pond, helped in the creation of the Intra-District Council where student leaders of Anaheim, Western, Savanna, and Magnolia met to discuss mutual problems, sponsored the year's many assemblies, including Korla Pandit, the Town Criers, and the USC Concert Band, and took charge of the year's first dance, "The Keep Off The Grass, Pick Up The Trash Mash"

Climaxing three years of participation in student government, Ty Salness, student body vice president, kept busy as he led the 75-member student council on to a year of accomplishment. Ty found that hard work resulted in success, and he instilled that feeling into the previously inactive council. Among his contributions was heading a campus beautification program.

Secretary of Records Nancy Decker was a busy note taker at frequent meetings of the student cabinet as well as those of the AUHS Intra-District Council. Transcribing minutes for the active cabinet, helping to organize business agendas, handling most correspondence, and preparing student guest cards for dances were but a few of her duties.

Enthusiastic Judy White served her position as Student Body Treasurer with earnest seriousness. Two of Judy's major responsibilities were handling the selling of student body cards and keeping up-to-date records of all campus organizations' budgets. Another job in her daily commitments was signing checks from the student body fund.

Secretary of Student Affairs Pete Dinkler, a consistent contributor to cabinet business, helped in the supervision of all dances, approved bands, and purchased records for the file. Pete's major headaches of the year were the revision of service points and the planning of the Service Point Banquet and movie, which climaxed the year's achievement.

Seeming at times an impossible task to promote the welfare and safety of the student body, the duties of Deanna Mason, secretary of Safety and Welfare were fulfilled through many ingenious campaigns. The S & W committee, which she headed, kept students off newly planted grass as well as placed permanent fire drill signs in every classroom.

Carl Mabs, secretary of assemblies, compiled an active file of currently popular high school assemblies. He then ordered those which best suited the Colony and saw to their smooth running. A few of the groups Carl scheduled were Korla Pandit, the Town Criers, and the USC Concert Band. His duties also included organizing the annual talent show.

Doug Daniels, Colonist Club president, strived to reactivate the previously idle all-male organization. Forming a cabinet made up of two representatives from each grade level, Doug worked to involve the group in as many beneficial activities as possible. Among these were arranging top flight assemblies as well as assisting in the revision of the handbook.

Capable Charla Hindley, Girls League president, concentrated on all events sponsored by this all-girl organization which traditionally includes every girl on campus. Her responsibilities included heading Homecoming preparations, organizing GL assemblies, and actively attending all student cabinet meetings, as well as chairing Girls' League Cabinet.

With one of the best noses for news that the Anoranco has seen for a long time, Kirk Hanen, Anoranco Representative, kept the student body well informed as to the activities of the student cabinet. Kirk took charge of student body publicity as well as being responsible for the newly installed bulletin boards which he kept up-to-date.

STUDENT CABINET HELPS KEEP ANAHEIM ONE OF TOP STATE-WIDE SCHOOLS

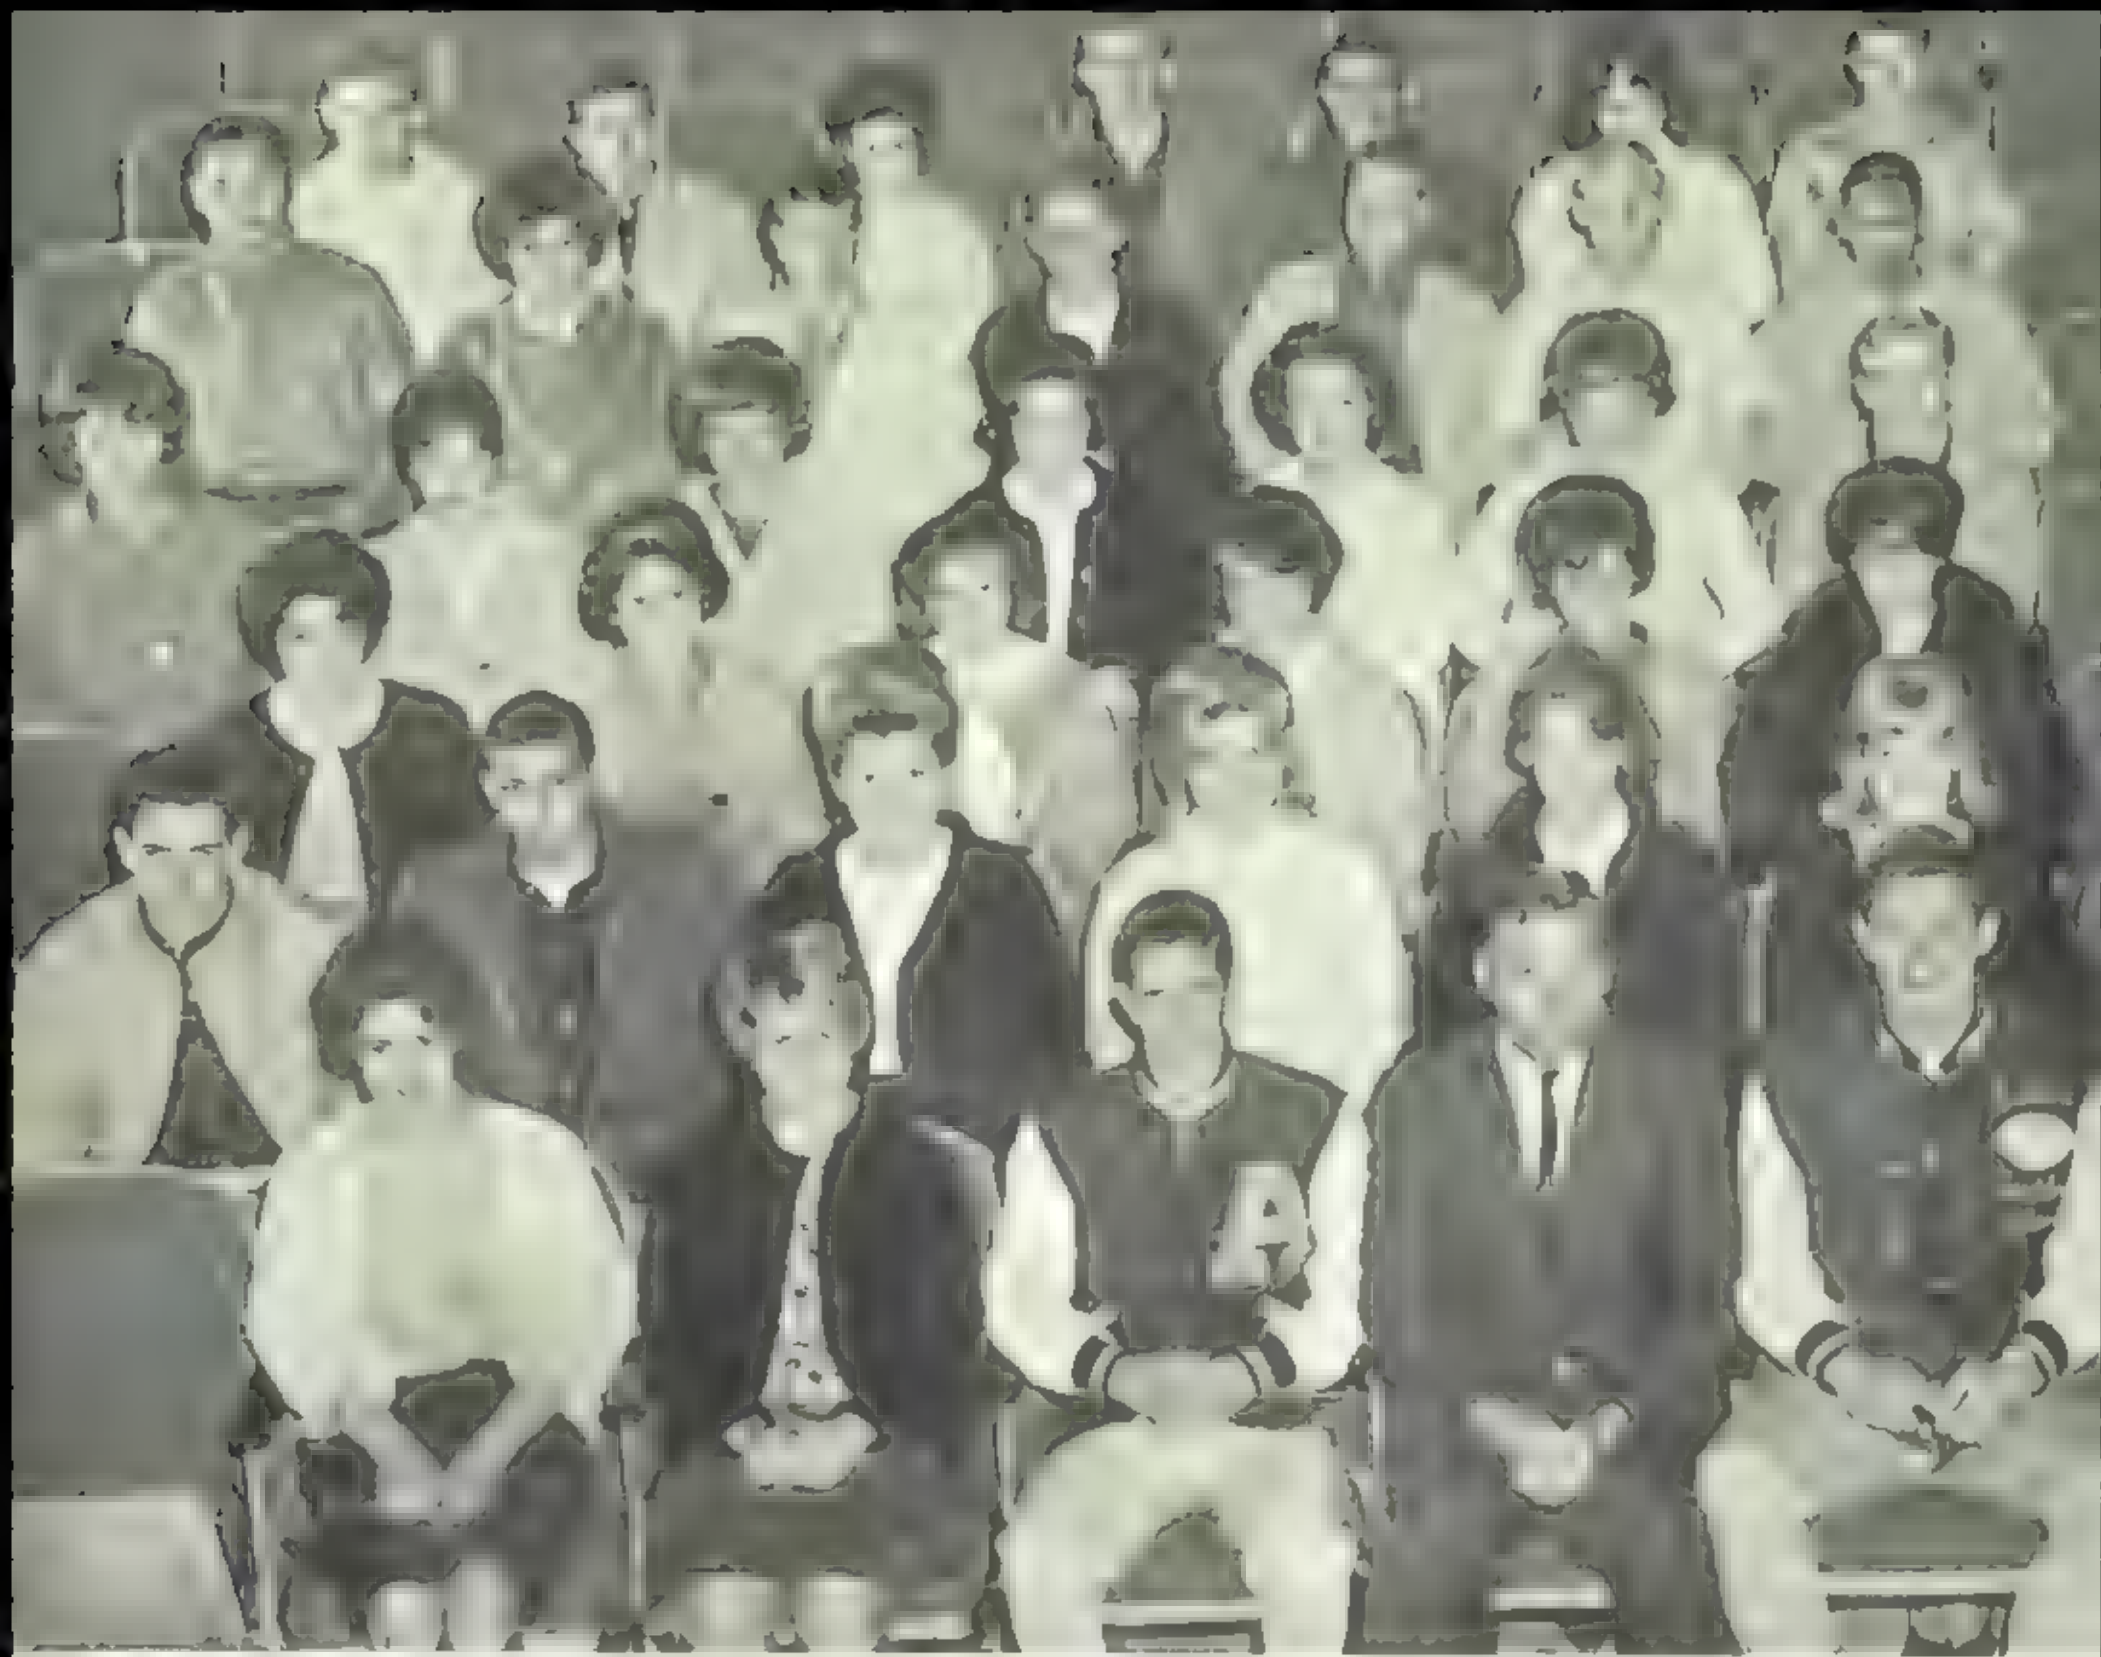

Receiving the largest number of yell leader votes cast, Janet Kier represented student interests as Commissioner of Pep. Although not a voting member, she took much personal interest in all deliberations the group made. Janet, who automatically was Pep Club president, used her cabinet position to help promote school spirit on the administrative level.

During the year, Miles Brakke performed his duty of coordinating goals and programs of students and administration—a vital rapport between two campus spheres. Furnishing guidance in the vast realm of student activities, Mr. Brakke included in his program, advising the Student Cabinet, Safety and Welfare committee, and Inter Club Council.

STUDENT COUNCIL Works For Anahi's Benefit

Working diligently for the benefit of all students on the Anaheim campus was the '62-'63 Student Council. These students worked actively all year keeping the high standard of student government for which Anaheim is well known.

Student Council met every other Wednesday during activity period with students representing each Senior Problems, U.S. History, and sophomore English class. Each class elected its own representative. Following each council meeting the representative reported to his class the activities of the group.

This past year, being different from previous years, the council was active in different facets of campus life. Its major contributions to the school were the appropriation of $6,000 student body funds for campus beautification, the raising of victory flags in the patio area, and the suggested revision of the student body constitution

According to the Constitution, the vice president of the student body is automatically president of student council. He works hand-in-hand with the boys' vice-principal, adviser to the council. The other officers are elected within the group; these are vice president, secretary, and sergeant-at-arms

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEES

Represent Class Ideas

Led by the class officers and Bill Williamson, class adviser, the Senior Executive Committee planned all the activities of AHS seniors. The members were elected from each senior problems class so that each senior could voice his ideas through an elected representative.

The committee scheduled dances, planned Grad Night, bought the class gift, sponsored Bermuda Day and the class play, and designed the first Sweetheart Ball which was held in February.

Juniors were well represented by their committee members elected from each U.S. History class. The committee was advised by Greg Beale and led by the class officers.

Traditionally the juniors are one of the most active classes on campus. Their main goal, which was to present the Junior-Senior Prom, was a major headache in itself, but the committee found time to choose a class ring and sponsor dances as well; they also sponsored the all-school play held in March.

Sponsoring Sophomore Fun

Night was the main objective of the Sophomore Executive Committee. Its members were elected from each sophomore English class and were led by the class officers and the class adviser, Fred Myers.

Since the sophomores were new to high school life, orientation to student government was another purpose of the Executive Committee. They learned how to develop their own projects through contact with junior and senior class leaders.

SENIOR EXECUTIVE: TOP ROW: C. Hickman, M. Kimrich, B. Gabbard, and M. Miller. SECOND ROW: V. Robinson, B. Taylor, R. Lopez, L. Kofero, H. Whitney, and

T. Hutton. THIRD ROW: D. Dora, S. Sowder, F. DeFalco, I. Heinrichs, and B. McWalters. BOTTOM ROW: L. Torres, J. McHenry, M. Fisher, and D. Branchaud.

JUNIOR EXECUTIVE—TOP ROW: G. Cano, B. Mark, G. Miller, J. Hurst, K. Stephens, and J. Watkins. SECOND ROW: V. Pewthers, O. Ahumada, J. Estrada, D. Porter, B. Wines, E. DeVos, and J. Achor.

THIRD ROW: G. Gollenger, A. Shavers, M. Ericker Pina, C. Shearer, J. Peterson, and J. Reagan. BOTTOM ROW: B. Buis, C. Gay, J. Wilson, P. Pebley, S. Elliott, and M. Shark.

Kiphus, and D. Guyton. BOTTOM ROW: M. Mahoney, M. Mitchell, K. Janrow, and J. Salness.

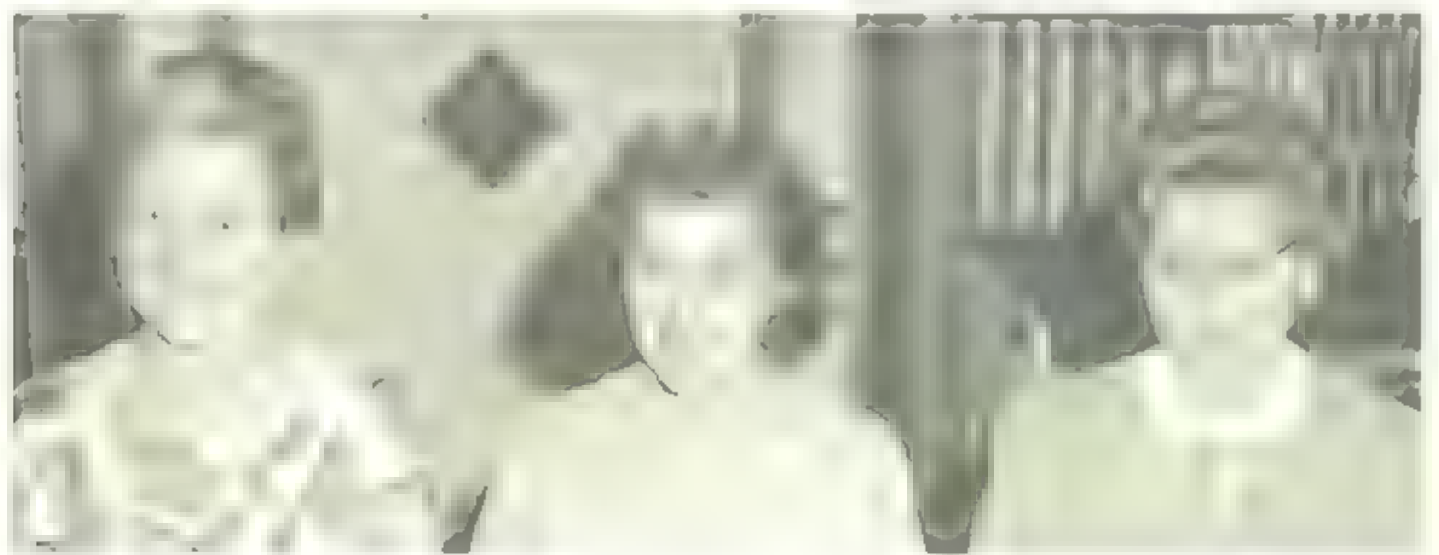

Campus Aids Work For Student Welfare

OFFICE PERSONNEL: Lee Parnell, Deborah Hanna, Marlene Finkner, Bruce Wisby, Kristi Wicks, and Edna Cooke

LIBRARY PERSONNEL: Arlene, Barbara, and Bernice Russ

BUS DRIVERS—Natalie Woloson, Jeannette Merriss, Cliff Wright, Lila Smith, June Hubbard, Deb Kelly, Carol Smith, and Eunice Weiss

Enlightening the atmosphere in the main office were six ladies who handled the secretarial aspect of the school. Their jobs ranged from assisting the attendance counselor and vice-principals to helping with the student budget and planning the daily schedule. The staff also handled tardies and absences.

Every day many books were checked out of the school library. This procedure was handled efficiently by three librarians. They kept the shelves neat and clean and well stocked with currently popular books. They were also in charge of all textbooks and paper-bounds that Connies and Clems used in school work.

Many students arrived at and left from AHS via the buses. This mode of transportation was handled by eight cheerful bus drivers. If it were not for their services many Colonists would have found getting to school a tiresome task.

Lunch time presented many problems to fourteen women who worked in the cafeteria. They were faced with the duty of feeding nutritious meals to hundreds of hungry students in a short period of time; they handled that task with great ease and poise.

CAFETERIA LADIES—G. Ricker, M. Bruer, E. Kerns, H. Loard, G. Hamilton, S. Nakayama, G. Goss, H. Bris, M. Hood, G. Dennison, N. Hardy, E. Knudsen, M. Kleinworth, and M. Kimmich

Our Expression of SPIRIT

Even with an enrollment exceeding 2000, Anaheim High provided each student the opportunity to express his SPIRIT individually. Whether it was in class participation or extra projects, each pupil had a chance to work to the best of his ability due to the wide selection of courses, first-class facilities, and guidance from a qualified faculty.

Also connected with Student Body was the SPIRIT expressed among the three classes: sophomore, junior, and senior. Every student not only had a pride in Anaheim as a whole but also a personal identification with his class. The continued customs of buying class rings, producing Junior and Senior class plays, and excusing seniors first in assemblies kept the traditional side of Anaheim's SPIRIT alive.

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS

LOUIS TORRES, president; presided over senior executive meetings, represented AHS at interdistrict cabinet meetings, and coordinated governmental functions of the senior class.

JANE McHENRY, secretary; recorded minutes of senior executive committee and all other committee meetings, and coordinated activities of the senior class.

DENNIS BRANCHALD, treasurer; recorded and provided for disbursement of class funds, gave statements of financial status to class and exercised over-all control and responsibility for class budget.

MARK FISHER, vice president; presided in the absence of the president, and assisted the president in various duties of office.

SENIORS Displayed Enthusiasm During Final Year at Anaheim High

William W. Adams
Senior Class Adviser

Spirited seniors proved themselves the most enthusiastic class in all their endeavors throughout the three years at Anahi. Class officers, adviser, and Senior Executive Committee worked together to bring this year's seniors a year they will always remember as they go forward into a new and challenging world.

A new tradition for coming years was set by the class of '63, as they sponsored the first annual Sweetheart Ball, along with two post-game dances. Also sponsored by the class of '63 was the highly successful Senior Play, "The Man Who Came To Dinner."

Trying to hold on to every day, the seniors finally came to the realization that their high school days were numbered. Senior Fun Night was held late in March, with only seniors in attendance. Announcements were ordered, Caps and Gowns measured, and all too soon came Senior Week. Junior-Senior games were played, Senior Breakfast was enjoyed by all, and baccalaureate was held with the three other high schools in the district. Then came the final step, graduation.

The end of three prosperous years was over with many mixed emotions, tears for the memories, and joy and pride at graduating from the "The School of Champions," Anaheim High.

Spirited dancers do the "Pony" during a post-game dance sponsored by the Senior Class

Senior Circle provides a pleasant place for seniors to eat lunch and have snacks during nutrition.

JUNIORS, looking back with pride on the past year, can truthfully say they have been successful. Traditionally the juniors sponsored the Junior-Senior Prom. The raising of money for this project kept them busy all year.

The class of '64 held three dances, "The September Stomp," "The Conquerors' Clash," and "The Basket Ball." They presented the highly entertaining all-school play, "Ladies of the Jury." Junior dues cards were also sold to make money for the prom.

During January, the juniors proudly purchased their class rings. The emblem, by Josten Inc., was carefully chosen by the junior class officers and adviser. In the years past, juniors have also had class sweaters, but, due to the students' lack of interest in them, the sweaters were not made available for purchase.

RATED HIGH IN SPIRIT

Recalled by many as a sparkling highlight of the past school year, the Junior-Senior Prom was held in the beautiful Embassy Room of the Disneyland Hotel on May 29, 1963. The affair was a formal dance and was greatly enjoyed by all who attended. The theme, which was carried out in beautiful decorations, was "Mardi Gras."

Through the tireless efforts of Jack Hurst, president; Bob Wines, vice president; Carol Gay, secretary; Janice Wilson, treasurer; Mr. G. C. Beale, adviser; and the Junior Executive Committee came many achievements and memories for the class of '64.

SOPHOMORES

Becoming acquainted with the traditions, rules, and atmosphere of Anaheim High School was the main responsibility of the sophomore class.

By maintaining high academic grades and exhibiting excellent citizenship, the sophomore class has helped support their high school. Always eager to cheer Anaheim's athletic teams to victory, the sophomores demonstrated their loyalty and devotion to AHS.

After a period of adjustment, the sophomores became active in student government. Each sophomore English class was represented in the student council and Sophomore Executive Committee.

Support Anaheim With Enthusiasm

Under the guidance of Mike Mahoney, president; Mike Mitchell, vice president; Kathie Janzow, secretary; Jo Salness, treasurer; and Mr. Fred Meyers, adviser, the class enforced its treasury by selling dues cards and sponsoring two dances. The traditional activities of serving at the Junior-Senior Prom and ushering at Graduation were among the activities for the year.

From beginning to end each member of the class shared in making '63 a successful year

Our Expression of SPIRIT

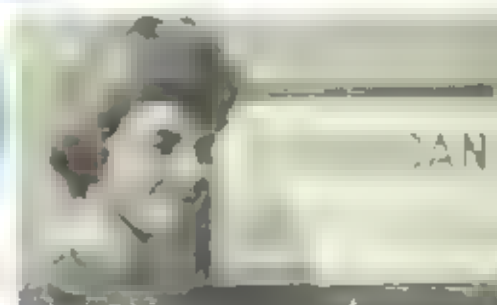

Offering a chance for expression in many different fields were the 32 clubs on Anaheim's campus. These groups gave each student a chance to work collectively with others in areas of interest to him. The five service clubs provided their members the opportunity to express SPIRIT through unselfish sacrifice of time and effort. They also were a basis for healthy competition.

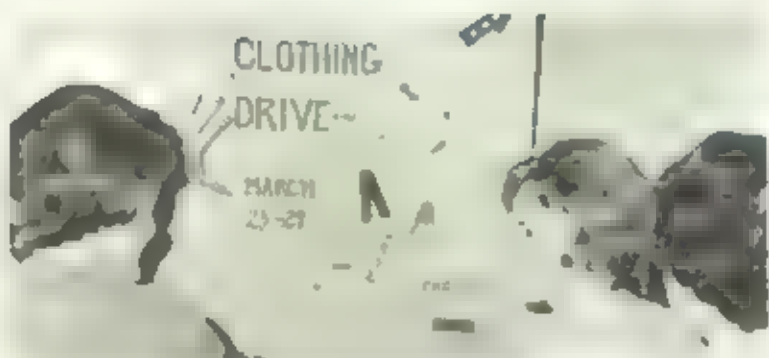

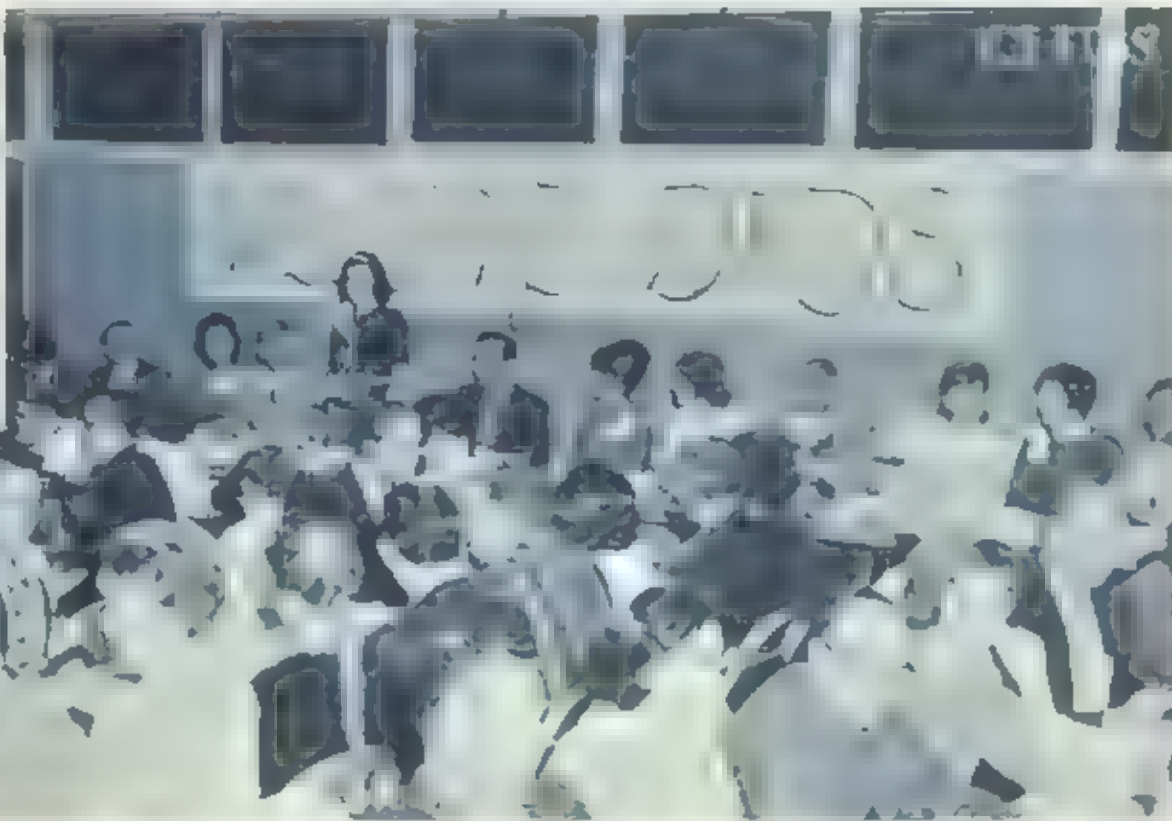

Exemplifying the initiative and broad interest of Anaheim students was the establishment of two new organizations on campus, German Club and Law Club. The ever-increasing awareness of Anaheim's SPIRIT was shown in the strong club support of the foreign exchange program and the clothing drive and in the many fine scholarships offered to college-bound students.

INTER CLUB COUNCIL SETS AH CLUB PACE

Inter Club Council is the medium of exchange for all of the clubs on the Anaheim campus. Each club president was the representative of his organization in the council. Through discussion and debate, many groups determined the ways in which they could best serve and be served. The unification enabled new clubs to learn from the past experiences of established groups.

George Rebella was president of ICC. A member of eight AHS clubs, George was ably suited for the position. Miles Brakke was ICC's adviser.

Collects Money For Adoption

Headed by Deanna Mason and advised by Miles Brakke, the Safety and Welfare Committee led an intense campaign for clean campus but unlike other years, were successful. The committee was also responsible for the arrival of grass in the more barren areas on campus.

In a drive to collect money for the adoption of a foreign child, the committee staged a Mr. Ugly contest with each student using money to vote for his favorite candidate. Ed Hazlett was this year's Mr. Ugly.

Other worthy projects for the committee included a clothing drive for the needy people of the world and permanent fire drill signs which were designed, printed, and placed in all classrooms by the group.

Voting was vigorous and heavy during the three day Mr. Ugly contest. Ed Hazlett, a good natured basketball player, edged out Morley Grossman for the coveted title. Proceeds went to Safety and Welfare's drive to adopt a foreign child.

GIRLS' LEAGUE VOICED VIEWS OF FAIRER SEX, UNIFIED ANAHI CONNIES

Girls' League is the co-ordinating body of the 1200 coeds attending Anaheim High School. All feminine members of the school belong to this organization. The Girls' League Cabinet under the leadership of Charla Hindley, president, and Dana Christensen, adviser, worked to bring the campus closer to the students.

Girls' League opened the year with the Big and Little Sister party held to familiarize new girl students entering Anaheim as sophomores. The League sponsored the Homecoming Dance, the annual Father-Daughter Banquet, the Mother-Daughter Banquet, and the Sadie Hawkins dance.

Dress Board endeavored to raise the standard of dress among the students. Led by Eileen Ortega, the Board promoted good grooming among Anaheim girls.

United together to lead Anaheim's Girls' League through one of its busiest years were Perry Buis, treasurer; Eileen Ortega, vice president; Charla Hindley, president, and Nancy Cummins, secretary

COLONIST CLUB TREATS AHS MALE ENROLLMENT TO ASSEMBLIES, FILMS

The versatile talents of Doug Daniels coupled with an industrious cabinet resulted in a highly successful year for Anaheim's Colonist Club. Long characterized by inactivity, this year's club earned the plaudits of the male student body.

Organized to serve the male students of Anahi, the Colonist Club presented assemblies and films of interest to all young men. The club also spearheaded the United Fund Drive early in the year. Their major project was revision of the school handbook.

Doug Daniels was elected Colonist Club president. Paul Bruce served as the club's vice president, while Al Kipbut filled the position of scribe. The junior class representatives were Tom Kilbarger and Dick Hough. Al Rincon and Jerry Miller were the sophomore representatives.

Using a smaller but more industrious membership, the Colonist Knights had a year of hard work integrated with good spirit.

During football season, the club sold concessions in the stands. They served at the Girls' League Father-Daughter Banquet, planted a number of shrubs and evergreens around the campus, and donated money to the AFS. The Knights also awarded many other contributions to worthwhile charities.

Leland Hansen and Frank Vineyard completed their first year as co-advisers of the highly active boys' club. Steve Betts filled the position of president for the Knights. Jim Estrada was Knights' vice president. Marty Hutchison held the position of club secretary, while John Samson completed the executive quartet as treasurer.

The Colonial Coeds under the able leadership of their president, Kathy Callen, undertook a busy year of projects and social services. Comprised of over fifty members, the club put the versatile talents of its enrollment to full use. Mrs. Marie Keeler and Mrs. Mary Willis, the club's advisers, contributed their services to become an integral part of the club's activities, rather than just supervisors.

The Coeds sold programs at football and basketball games. Using their large membership for the benefit of the community, the club held a scavenger hunt for food for the needy at Christmas, sang Christmas carols at local homes for the aged, contributed their services at the three Sabin polio clinics, and served as hostesses at PTA meetings. Even the Coeds' annual Donkey Basketball Game served a purpose with the proceeds going to the organization's scholarship fund.

In a lighter vein, the Coeds took a snow trip and attended and sponsored a number of school social activities.

Officers for the Coeds this year were Kathy Callen, president; Diane Ford, vice president; Linda Shigekawa, secretary; Perry Buis, treasurer; Bea Pappas, service point chairman; Betsy Buis, historian; and Claire Fisher, social chairman.

FTA, THESPIANS

Helped Members Develop Talents

Members of the Anaheim chapter of the Future Teachers of America had an opportunity to turn the tables and investigate the world of a teacher. The enrollment, made up of students interested in entering the field of education, swelled to a new high under the able leadership of their president Sharon Moorhead, and adviser Marjorie Pibel.

The club attended lectures and made field trips to increase their knowledge of an educational vocation. Sayuri Ishimaru, Anaheim's Japanese exchange student, was the featured speaker at one of the meetings. Sayuri spoke on the differences and similarities found in American and Japanese schools. A student-teacher tea was the highlight of the group's active year.

The talents of Glenda Lovell, president of Anaheim's Thespians, combined with the experience and ability of Marion Tompkins and Louise Booth, the group's advisers, resulted in an active and rewarding year.

As in past years, the Thespians presented their show. Proceeds from the show went into the club's treasury to cover the costs of future endeavors. The show featured folk singing during the intermissions.

The Thespians attended a number of private dramatic productions throughout the year. Most noteworthy of the productions attended was Arthur Miller's "The Crucible."

Other Thespian officers were Marilyn Maxwell, vice president and Janet Schroeder, secretary-treasurer.

WORK WAS KEY CLUB PASSWORD

Anaheim's Key Club used a large enrollment and vigorous leadership to accomplish a number of projects that proved profitable to both the club and the student body.

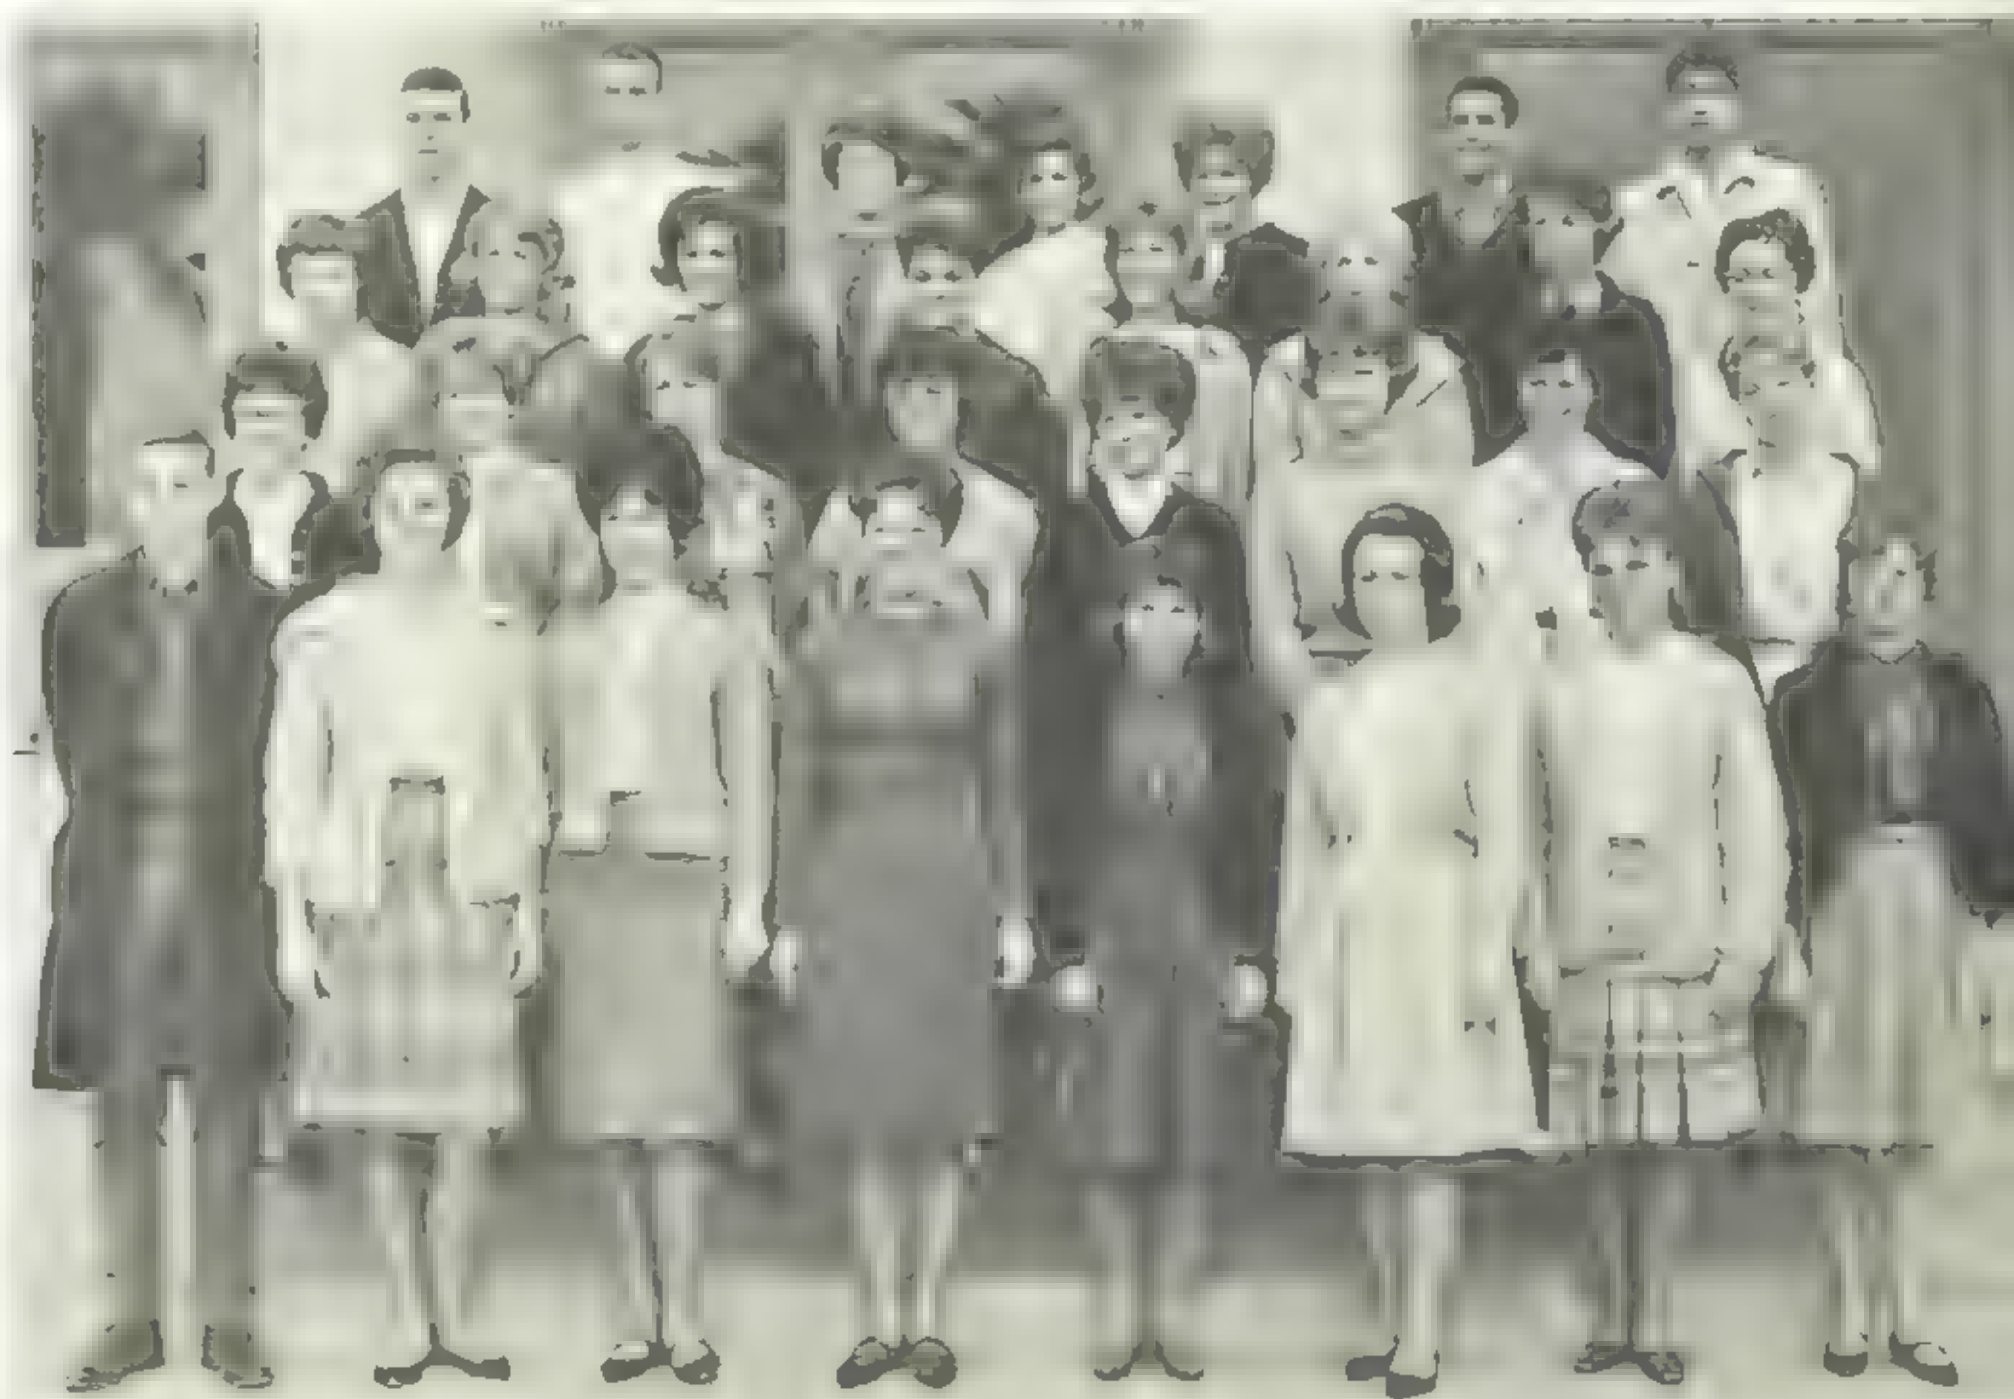

Under the benevolent eye of William Bell, adviser, the club's membership expanded to over forty. As in past years, the club painted campus trash cans. The club's biggest money-making project was a folk-singing concert held early in the spring. Three of the nation's finest acts performed in the Key Club benefit, with the proceeds going to AFS and worthwhile charities. Those performing were George Sesoko, Denny and Vince, and Bob and the Leveemen.

SIGMA

Zeta Sigma led Anaheim clubs with seven sponsors. The active science club put these seven advisers to full use as they investigated the complex worlds of life and physical science.

Field trips and personal experimentation filled the hours of the members. Biology, chemistry, physics, geology and astronomy were the main areas of study for the probing Zeta Sigmas.

Joseph Carter, John Hammen, Paul Bajema, Kemuel Anderson, Robert McMahon, Paul Gilley and William Rowley were the seven Anahi teachers who volunteered their time to sponsor Zeta Sigma. Officers were Bill Reese, president; Rod Moore, vice president; Sandy Warden, secretary; Kathie Post, treasurer; and Al Tuttle, social director.

Zeta Sigma's biggest project was experimentation to find a possible cure for cancer from the chemical compound Pyradazine. This project, under the student leadership of Mike Reeske, typified the high quality of work performed by the active organization.

Led by Sam Prentice, NFL president, and Greg Richards, Roto-Hi president, the clubs wiped out a $120 deficit through hard work and industry of the club's membership. Betty Brown was adviser for the united clubs.

NFL and Roto Hi combined to form an active organization. Officers for the united clubs were Sam Prentice, NFL president; Greg Richards, Roto Hi president; Rhonda Hooper, NFL treasurer; Don Alger, NFL vice president; Kathryn Kuhn, Roto Hi adviser, and George Rebella, Roto Hi vice president.

Under the leadership of Marilyn Morse, the president of Quo Vadis, and Kemuel Anderson, the club's adviser, the group inaugurated a system of self appraisal at group meetings. Through this open discussion of problems and subjects related to life today, the club members were drawn closer together in a common bond so essential to a pure religious life.

The club attended lectures, with the speakers talking on related subjects. The Quo Vadians also visited the inspirational "Last Supper" painting at Forest Lawn in

Academic Ability Stressed by '63 HONOR SOCIETY

For 131 Anaheim students, Honor Society was the reward of many long hours of study and diligent scholastic work. Only students who carried a required total of grade points were qualified for membership in the society. The selectivity and enrollment of the group was a compliment to the excellent teaching and counseling facilities at Anaheim.

Scott Martin, a Gold Seal Bearer, served as Honor Society's president during the two semesters. The other officers were Liz Katz, vice president; Marilyn Miller, secretary; and Christie Lundquist, treasurer.

Sponsored by Virginia Huff, the group earned money from coke sales at the basketball games. As in past years, various regional and district conferences were attended. In the spring the group attended a Visitation Day at the University of California, Riverside.

GERMAN CLUB STRIVES FOR UNIQUE GOALS

Working separately, but for the same goal, the German Club and the French Club strove to obtain deeper understanding of the cultures, customs, and habits common to their language of study. Utilizing the excellent language facilities at Anaheim, the clubs worked outside of class on varied projects. Field trips, films, and lectures kept the clubs busy throughout the year.

German Club stressed learning through unity, as the fifteen members attended films and meetings with German groups from other schools. The joint meetings with other German organizations gave Anahi's club a chance to contribute as well as receive. Led by George Rebella, German Club undertook its first active year on campus. Ron Novak was the club's vice president; Bill Reese filled the office of secretary-treasurer. Miss Shirley Sadler sponsored the club in its maiden year.

Sponsors Gene Henderson and Mrs. Agnes Sellars contributed their time to assist the French Club. The 20-member group used lectures to bring members into direct contact with the language. French movies were attended in Los Angeles, and several parties were held. Diane Ford, Vera Scholl, and Joan Starr were the active trio who were elected president, vice president and secretary.

PEP ORIGINATED, GENERATED AHS SPIRIT CLUB

Promotion of school spirit was the responsibility of the Pep Club. This year before every football, basketball, and baseball game brightly painted signs made by Pep Club members could be seen at many locations on campus.

Under the direction of Janet Kier, president; Candy Currier, vice president; Lynn Koleto, secretary; and Margaret Shirk, treasurer; such projects as selling booster buttons, "All we want for Christmas is the CIF" cards, and the organization of a card section were successfully carried out.

These projects plus others raised money and helped to create school spirit. The money raised went toward the financing of the cheerleader's and songleader's annual trip to the summer cheerleading camp at Redlands.

For their work this year in helping with the direction of the Pep Club and its activities a vote of thanks was extended to the cheerleaders and songleaders of Anaheim High.

At any function that required ushering in Anaheim's auditorium the Usherettes could be found. The junior and senior girls that made up this organization handed out programs and escorted people to their seats.

For ushering at school concerts, plays, and any other performances held at the AHS auditorium the girls were given points. At the end of the year the junior with the highest point total is named head Usherette for the following year.

During the year, Sharon Moorhead served as president, Diane Ford as vice president, Judi Cook as secretary, and Marilyn Miller as treasurer.

The Usherettes sponsored a bake sale and a year-end tea to invite new members and choose a head Usherette.

FHA GAIN DOMESTIC SKILLS IN CLUB'S ACTIVITIES

Attending conventions at Asilomar and at Palomar, FHA officers learned about the ideas and activities of other Future Homemakers of America clubs. The officers in turn gave a report on these conventions to other high schools in the district.

As a project the club helped a needy family at Christmas time. Canned goods and clothing were collected and sent to the family. Also in the vein of community service FHA members took presents to an old people's home.

To learn more about the different facets of homemaking the club visited a Laura Scudders plant and took a trip to Knotts Berry Farm. Also a guest speaker was invited from the Gas company to talk about utilities in homemaking.

SUB DEBS GIVE HELPING HAND TO MANY

Starting the year off with a bang, the Sub Debs under the direction of president, Joyce Hagerbaumer, served at the first PTA meeting of the year. The Sub Debs also sold tickets for a wheelchair basketball game, programs for football games, and gave dolls to the Goodwill. They also collected clothing and gifts for Fairview Hospital at Christmas.

To raise money, the Sub Debs sold mums at the homecoming game and sold candy throughout the year. All the money from the mum, candy, and program sales went for annual scholarships given by the club. These scholarships were made available to every girl in school. Besides campus service, such as cleaning the trophy cases, the club joined in the spirit of community service.

For entertainment and information the club welcomed several guest speakers. One speaker was a beauty expert and another an airline hostess. These women told about their daily work and answered questions about their professions. The club also held a Christmas party, several slumber parties, and went to the mountains on their annual snow trip.

Sub Deb Officers, Candy Currier, vice president; Karen Larsen, treasurer; Chris Miles, secretary; Carolyn Fish, historian; and Joyce Hagerbaumer, president, direct the making of mums for homecoming.

Radio Club gave Anaheim students an opportunity to improve skills in radio operation and electronics. As well as offering experience in different electronic fields, the club gave its members a chance to pick up proficiency in areas that would be beneficial in future trades.

The club was often a work-shop for members desiring to build skills for use in industry or the armed services.

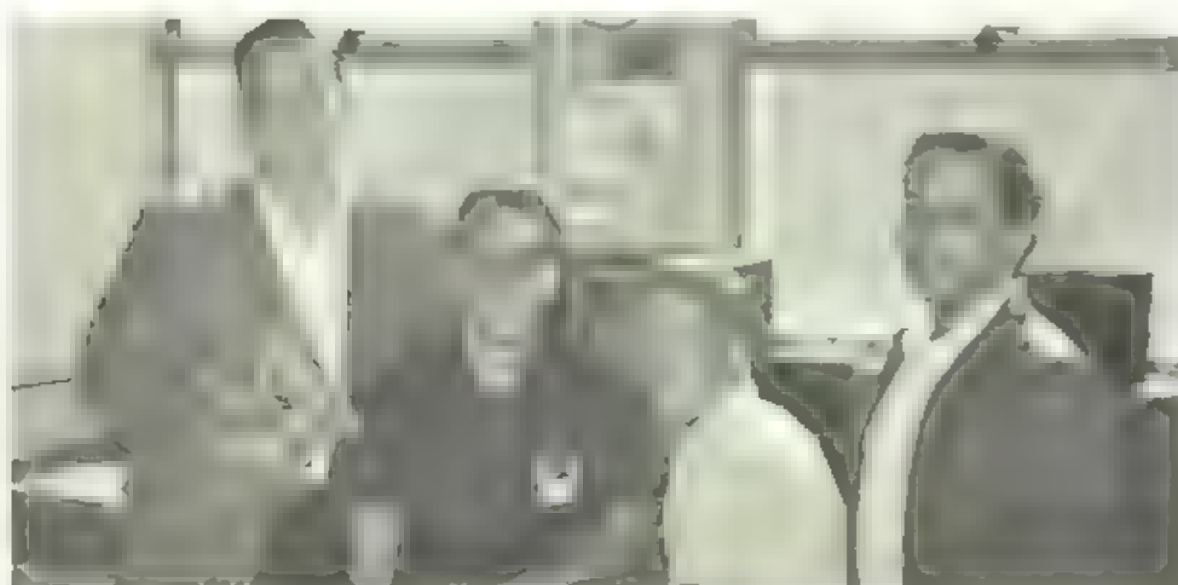

In its first year on campus, the club developed swiftly into an active body, eager to work and desirous to learn. Sponsored by James Craig, the group built a valuable training set for use in other electronics classes.

MACHINISTS

LEARNED SKILLS

The Machinists Club served a dual purpose at Anaheim. Besides offering Industrial Arts students an opportunity to develop hobbies related to metal shop, or other machinery and tools, it assisted many boys in learning skills to be used in future jobs.

Utilizing Anaheim's magnificent machinery facilities, the members were able to start and complete projects outside of regular class assignments. Students who wished to improve personal skills or ability in handling of other machines found the club a benefit and a pleasurable experience.

FBLA OFFERED CONNIES NEW EXPERIENCE

Always an active club on campus, FBLA did not let the year slip by. Club members sold football schedule pencils, shared the football concessions with the Colonist Knights, held a potluck dinner, sponsored three new FBLA chapters, sold annual covers, and attended the southern section conference at Cerritos Junior College and the state FBLA convention at Berkeley, California.

The money gathered by FBLA from football concessions, sale of annual covers, schedule pencils, Christmas cards, and pep ribbons went to help finance the sending of members to FBLA conventions. FBLA also donated fifty dollars to the foreign exchange program.

As part of their work in the city of Anaheim, the AHS FBLA chapter installed three new FBLA chapters. The chapters that were added were at Savannah, Magnolia, and Loara.

Club members also took trips to the San Bernardino Mountains, POP, the beach, and held a party.

Sold Cokes at
Sports Events

Varsity A Club represented all varsity lettermen at Anaheim High School. Lettermen in any sport were eligible to join the athletic organization.

Operating through a representative council, the group strove to serve the Anaheim campus and community.

The council consisted of representatives from each varsity sport. Their decisions eliminated the necessity of having all varsity lettermen attend each meeting. Coach Robert Hager was the group's adviser. Loy Petersen was elected treasurer.

Members of the Varsity A sold Coca Cola and candy at football and basketball games.

VERITAS

Explored All Facets of an Active World

Anaheim students with a desire to learn more about the world and themselves, found Veritas a worthwhile and educational club. Members of the club delved into thought-provoking subjects and presented their conclusions to the whole club. Free discussion allowed each member to be heard. This intellectual exchange of ideas was not only informative, but highly educational.

Officers of the club were George Rebella, president; Don Alger, vice president; Pete Jenkinson, secretary; Bill Reese, treasurer; and Scott Martin, parliamentarian. Advisers were Jack Jeppeson and Charles Purcell.

AMERICAN FIELD SERVICE HELPED SPONSOR SAYURI

Although the American Field Service was not classified as a regular service club on campus, it is evident that the club was of service to the school, community, and nation.

The purpose of AFS was to promote goodwill for the foreign student program and earn enough money to support the same. The money the club received from donations by campus clubs and from the sale of foreign student shares helped to finance students abroad from Anaheim and to pay for the foreign exchange student the school has each year.

This year's foreign student was Sayuri Ishimauri from Tokyo, Japan.

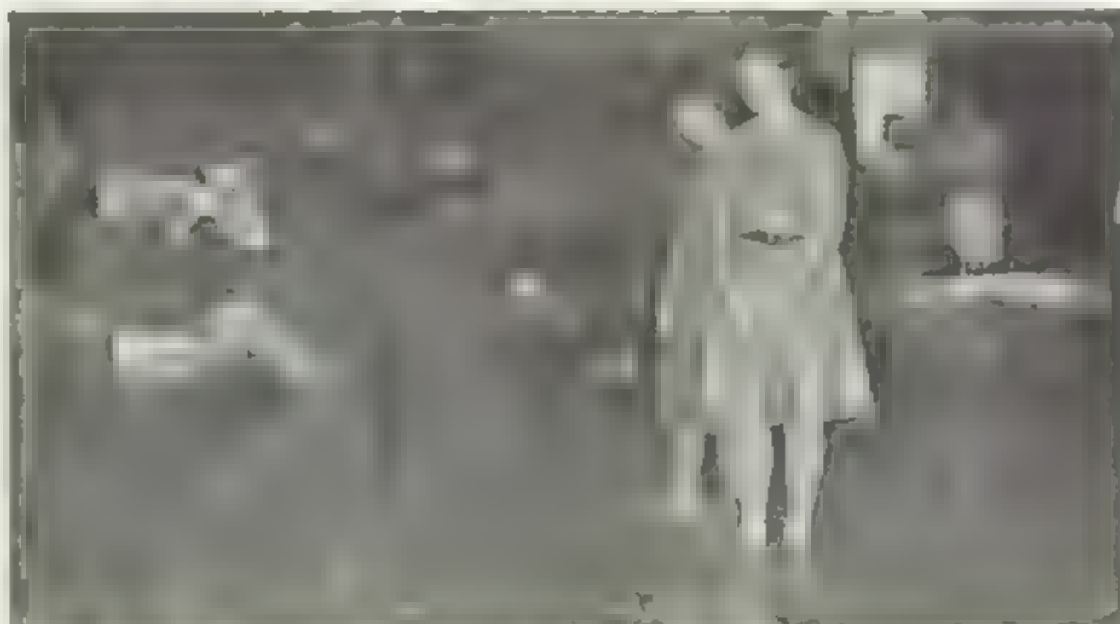

Officers for AFS this year were Don Alger, president; Betty Hueier, vice president; and Judy Schmall, treasurer.

BOWLING CLUB PRACTICED TO GAIN ABILITY

Anaheim bowlers with a desire for friendly competition and eagerness to improve their games, joined together in Anahi's Bowling Club. These earnest bowlers met each week for individual and team play.

Sponsored by Thomas Dardarian, the club built up a friendly rivalry. Trophies were given throughout the year to bowlers who had the highest game or highest series. Dardarian simplified the complex scoring system.

Officers for the year were Orvin Barber, president; Linda Hambley, vice president; Jarol Johns, secretary; Karen Tucker, treasurer; Don Ratzlaff, sergeant at arms, and Chris Kalouan, Red Cross representative.

Orvin Barber swings his arm as he rolls a likely strike. Orvin's feminine admirers are Jeri Johns and Ann Armstrong.

Members of Anaheim's Spanish Club were given the opportunity to learn more than the grammar and vocabulary of a foreign language. The club members, through outside work, were able to improve skill in the Spanish language, and at the same time pick up a little of the culture so rich to Spanish-speaking areas.

President Janet Schroeder worked with the club's adviser, James Edwards, to co-ordinate the many activities of the busy group. Bob Anderson served as the club's vice president. Other officers for the year were Patti Edstrom, secretary, and Pat Delaney, treasurer.

Mr. Edwards' informative lectures on Mexico and Latin America were of both educational and entertainment value to the organization.

LATIN CLUB Sold Slaves in Traditional Roman Auction

Latin Club became the fifth club on the Anaheim campus to establish an affiliation with a national organization. Under the industrious leadership of president, Sam Prentice, Latin Club became a member of the National Classics League.

Highlight of the club's active year was the week-long slave sale. First year Latin students were auctioned off to second and third year club members.

Other officers for the club were Carolyn Miles, vice president; Linda Shigekawa, secretary, and Terry McCorry, treasurer. William Daly served the group as adviser.

Sam Prentice and Linda Shigekawa, president and secretary of Latin Club, discuss future plans with Betty Heuler and Bill Daly, adviser to Latin Club.

MOZART REPRESENTED AHS MUSIC

Mozart Club set the pace for the music minded at Anaheim. Membership was limited to members of some Anaheim musical group, either instrumental or choral.

Each month the club put on a performance for the members, with the acts being drawn from the various campus music groups. One performance was held for the faculty only.

Early in the year, the members sold candy to raise money to buy new robes for the Concert Choir. The annual Spring Show, held in late April, presented the varied talents of the membership to the public.

Carl Mabs was Mozart's president. Advisers were Cary Gibbs and Ted Clarke. Other officers were Kathy Fauser, vice president; Perry Buis, secretary; Bonnie Schroeder, treasurer; Diane Ford, historian; and Martin Blake, sergeant at arms.

SERVETTES VOLUNTEERED TIME, SERVICE

Servettes, composed of sophomore girls, served at formal dances and generally performed service for the school.

Their projects, under the guidance of Lindee Reese, president; Linda Hicks, vice president; Susan Eastman, secretary; and Judy Evans, treasurer; included washing the cafeteria windows, serving at the Sweetheart Ball and Junior-Senior Prom, picking up trash, and as their main undertaking of the year, sponsoring a needy family at Christmas and Easter.

To earn money, the Servettes sold cokes at dances and basketball games, and checked clothes at dances. All the money that was earned by these projects went toward the club's fifty dollar donation to the foreign exchange program.

Our Expression of SPIRIT

Talent, interest, leadership, and just plain hard work were the components of every AHS activity. Through their broad variety, Anaheim extra-curricular events encouraged the participation of every student body member.

Music performances, publications, cheerleading, plays, and exchange programs represented just a portion of the diversity found at Anaheim. Entertaining assemblies, after-game and formal dances, and other special events provided pleasant recreation during the busy school year.

Into the success of every function went hours of serious planning. Imagination and initiative were employed to create the most colorful and original activities for student enjoyment while the high standard of Anaheim's SPIRIT was still maintained.

Producing a first rate yearbook was the uppermost thought in the mind of each "Colonist" staff member, from the first meeting in July until the last word was typed in April.

Members of the "Colonist" staff consisted of Journalism II students and photographers. The students had a year of journalistic training behind them before starting to work on the annual.

Gathering information, photographing students, teachers, and events, and meeting deadlines, managed to keep the staff busy every moment.

Larry Quille, the journalism adviser; Dale Westbrook, the editor; and Kathy Bennett, the associate editor; had the great responsibility of supervising all phases of the production of the yearbook.

The members of the staff spent many long hours of hard work on the "Colonist" in creating an enjoyable memory book for the students of Anahí.

News Reported by "Anoranco Staff," Photographers, Printers

Combining their talents, the journalism students, the photographers, and the printers produced the weekly edition of Anabi's newspaper, the Anoranco.

Each week the reporters scoured the campus in search of news for the paper. When a particularly interesting story had been written, the photographers took pictures of the subject. The completed stories and engravings were sent to the print shop where they were transformed into the form of completed Anorancos.

Due to the advice and talents of Mr. Larry Quille, journalism adviser, Mr. Anthony Freeman, photography adviser, and Mr. Lloyd Ross, print shop supervisor, the students were able to print the Anoranco.

"MAN WHO CAME TO DINNER"

Presented by SENIOR CLASS

Under the direction of Mrs. Marion Tompkins, Anaheim's senior class presented its annual play. "The Man Who Came to Dinner" was this year's excellent choice. Two performances of the fast-moving three-act comedy were given. The matinee was set for Wednesday, Nov. 28, while the evening presentation took place on Thursday, Nov. 29.

"The Man Who Came to Dinner" was centered around the contented family of Mr and Mrs. Ernest Stanley of Mesalia, Ohio. Noted critic and wit Sheridan Whiteside agrees to have dinner with the Stanleys. While at the Stanley's home, Whiteside meets with an accident causing him to suffer a hip injury. Forced into recuperating at the Stanley's home, Whiteside along with his secretary, Maggie Cutler, completely throw the household into chaotic disorder.

Trying to convince the Stanley's servants to work for him, insulting everyone in sight, convincing the Stanley's two children, June and Richard, to lead a life of their own, and almost ruining the romance of his secretary are only a few of the disruptions Whiteside causes during his short stay.

Special thanks go to Jim Estrada and Marilyn Maxwell, stage managers, and all the stage crews for their help in this production.

LADIES OF THE JURY

Second Annual All School Play

Anaheim's junior class sponsored this year's entertaining all school play. Many talented students participated in this production of "Ladies of the Jury."

The fast-moving play concerned the murder trial of Mrs. Gordon, a one time Broadway chorus girl accused of killing her husband. The second act opened when the jury went into deliberation. All but one member were convinced of the defendant's guilt. The lone jurist was Mrs. Crane, expertly acted by Judy Moorhead.

Many hilarious events took place during three days in the jury room. But finally Mrs. Crane quietly and subtly won the jury over to her side, and Mrs. Gordon was declared innocent.

Marvin Maxwell and Bob Newman have a quiet discussion while other jurists sleep.

Janet Schroeder, Bonnie Hignett, and Jim Estrada settle down for the night in the deliberation room.

Celebrating Valentine's Day, the Senior class sponsored the Sweetheart Ball. The dance took place at the city of Anaheim's Elks Club where the couples danced to the music of the Notables.

The decorations, in keeping with the occasion, consisted of valentines, cupids, and flowers. Many weeks of work on the part of the Senior Executive committee members went into these decorations. Appropriately, the couples had their pictures taken in front of a large Valentine.

Climaxing the evening's suspense was the crowning of Jerri Raber as Senior Sweetheart. Her attendants were Jeannie Cantrell and Deanna Mason.

A portion of the large turnout for the first annual Sweetheart Ball are seen dancing and romancing to the music of the Notables.

YELL . . . Promoted Spirit

Promoting spirit from the beginning of football season to the end of basketball season was the main duty of the seven yell leaders and the five songleaders. Besides leading yells and songs, they organized and participated in pre-game pep rallies and pep assemblies.

Under the energetic leadership of the yell leaders and songleaders, Pep Club painted signs to remind the student body of the upcoming games. They also sold pep cards to students, which were worn during the week at school and at the games.

Before every game the yell leaders and songleaders decorated the team room leaving special messages for each team member.

Participating in the City of Anaheim Halloween Parade was another highlight of the songleaders' and yell leaders' activities. The yell

Majorettes, Banner Carriers, Flagtwirlers Aided Spirit

Marching and performing in parades and half time activities, three groups of girls, the majorettes, flag twirlers, and the banner carriers, were an asset to Anahi

The majorettes marched with the band in many parades including the Anaheim Halloween Parade, the Orange Parade, the Arcadia Parade, the Hawthorne Parade, and the Corona Band Jamboree. They also participated with the band in half time performances and helped to promote spirit at pep rallies and basketball game half-times.

and at football half-times were the banner carriers. These girls put in many long hours of practice with the drill team.

The peppy flag twirlers marched behind the band in many parades and during the football half-times. They also performed their routines during basketball half-times and at pep assemblies and pep rallies

Hours of practice were spent by these spirited girls outside of the actual performances. They were active and spirited representatives of Anaheim during the year.

Gathered together for an informal meeting are Pat Haas, head leader; Lindee Reese, manager; Francis Pitts, adviser; Margie Bender, manager; and Cheri Colburn, junior leader.

DRILL TEAM

Sparkled at Many Games, Parades

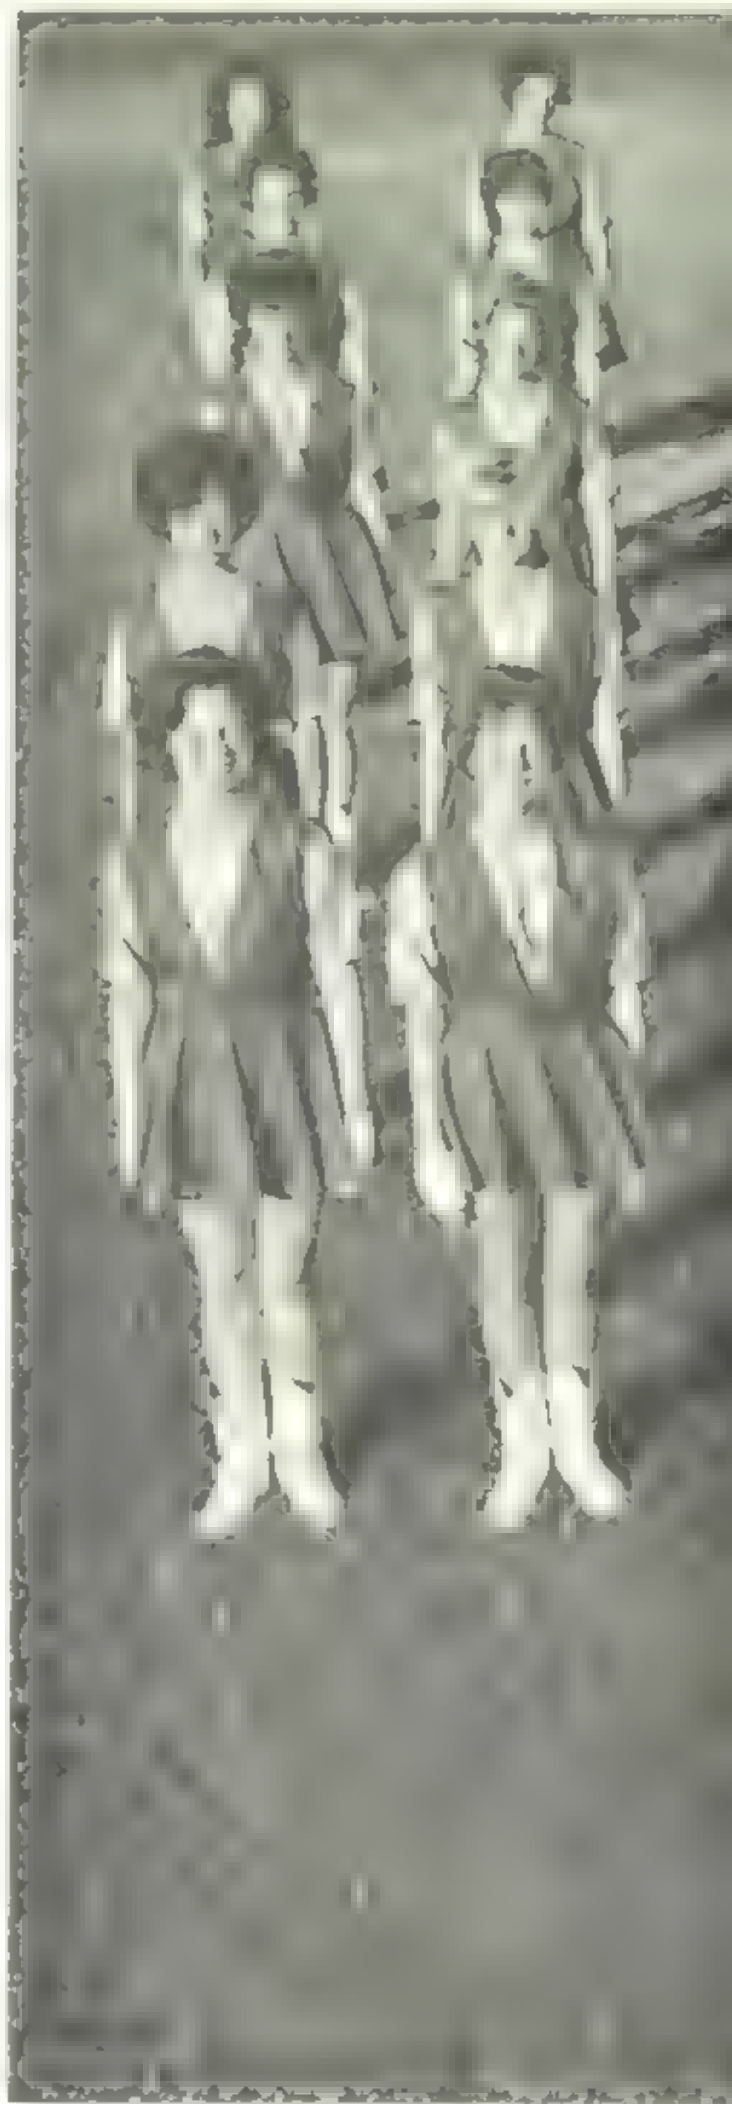

Early in the spring general tryouts for Anaheim's drill team, the Ana Hi Steppers, are held. During these tryouts the following year's drill team is chosen. Practice sessions begin late in summer and continue throughout the school year.

One of the main jobs of the Hi Steppers is providing entertainment during halftimes at football games. A total of nine shows were performed this year.

The drill team also participated in many parades. A few of these were the Hawthorne Parade, the Arcadia Parade, the Santa Ana Parade, the Anaheim Halloween Parade, the Corona Band Jamboree, the Orange Parade, and the Spring Invitational Show. In the Corona Band Jamboree the Hi Steppers placed third among the top ten bands in Southern California and tied for third place in the Santa Ana Parade.

The Southern California Drill Team Workshop was also successfully hosted by the group this year. During the workshop, the participating drill teams exchanged ideas and put on demonstrations.

Each year a girl is chosen as "Outstanding Girl of the Year." She is chosen on leadership, group participation, scholarship, and ability. This year the honor was bestowed on Barbara Finicle.

MOZART, A CAPPELLA CHOIRS

Brought Acclaim to Anaheim

Mozart Choir and A Cappella Choir brought honor and acclaim to the music department of Anaheim this year. The two choirs required high standards of their members, both in and out of performance. Under the direction of Cary Gibbs, both Mozart and A Cappella Choirs were busy and successful groups.

A Cappella Choir participated in the Thanksgiving Assembly, singing both traditional and contemporary Thanksgiving songs. Both choirs took part in the Christmas assembly, which was held just before Christmas vacation. A Cappella also entertained two fifth grade assemblies held in March.

One of the most exciting events of the year for Mozart members was the trip to San Francisco. There they performed for the YMCA, before church congregations, and for several schools.

Occasionally Mozart and A Cappella performed together as Concert Choir. The Spring Show was one of their major performances.

ANAHEIM COLONY

CONCERT, MARCHING BANDS

This year, as in the past, the Colonist Marching Band compiled an impressive record of honors to continue its tradition of excellence as both a parade and show band.

During football season, the band, under the leadership of Director Ted Clark and Drum Major Bob Hatherly, provided top-notch half-time entertainment.

The band was invited to attend the Corona Band Jamboree, where it captured third place among the top ten marching bands in Southern California.

A fitting climax to this successful year came when the Colonist Band was chosen as the "Best Band In Orange County" for the fourth consecutive year by the Los Angeles Times.

The concert band achieved the honor of receiving the top rating of superior at the District and Regional Band and Orchestra Festivals. The concert band also presented several excellent concerts during the year, including the Spring Concert, the annual Spring Show, and two fifth grade concerts. The highlight of the season was the annual Spring Concert which featured Rafael Mendez, "World's Best Trumpet Soloist."

AWARDED HONORS

Although a small group, the Anaheim High School String Orchestra was an active part of the music department. This year the orchestra was featured with the A Cappella Choir in the annual Christmas Concert as well as in performances for the Anaheim High PTA.

This fine group of musicians devoted many rehearsal hours toward the goal of upholding the high standards set by past groups.

Music of Pep, Dance Bands Enjoyed by All

Bob Hatherly Led Band in Parades

Members of the pep band were active and talented students who provided music at pep assemblies held in the gym and at pep rallies in the patio. At home basketball games the pep band played Colonist songs and the Alma Mater for the students.

Dance band, which forms early in the second semester, consisted of band members who were willing to play at school functions and off-campus activities.

Bob Hatherly, Drum Major, led the Marching Band in its precision routines and also conducted the pep band during assemblies and pep rallies.

All these students were members of the Anaheim Marching Band, besides participating in these extra band activities.

Anaheim Received Teacher, Students In Exchange Programs

By means of the American Field Service, Anaheim High School received a foreign exchange student from Kochi, Japan. Her name was Sayuri Ishimaru. Besides becoming "Americanized" and keeping up her grades, Sayuri participated in many activities. She was an active member of Colonial Coeds, AFS, YMCA and Girl Scouts. During her stay, she lived with Mr. and Mrs. Malvin Hilgenfeld and their daughter, Ruth.

Another first for Anaheim was a foreign exchange teacher from England, Paul Gilley. Biology and Life Science students thoroughly enjoyed Gilley's teaching. Teaching co-educational classes and getting used to the informal teacher-student relations were this English teacher's two greatest adjustments.

Also attending Anaheim this year was Jim Wambua from Kenya, East Africa. Jim stayed with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bradd of Anaheim.

Our Expression of SPIRIT

Team effort has been the key behind many of Anaheim's greatest achievements. This year was no exception. The SPIRIT students at Anahi felt for their school and classmates was magnified in the successful athletic seasons of 1962-63.

At the very beginning of this success was the diligent training and practice of the individual athletes. Then came the polishing of group techniques and co-operation among team members. When the season began, drive and confidence was not only expressed by team members, but by the student body who served by showing optimism and assuring victory.

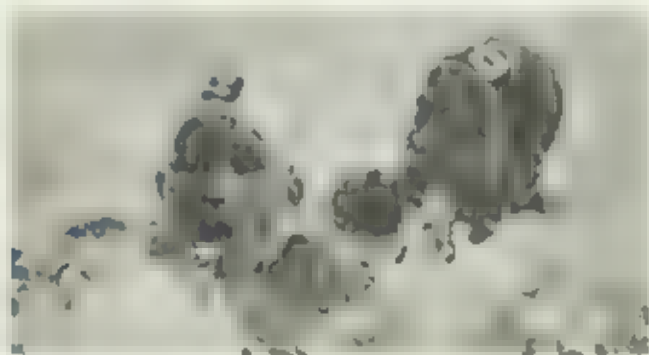

Through the combined interests of coaches, managers, team members, and extremely important student body support, the successful athletic seasons of 1962-63 were truly a "team" effort.

The Colonists brought home their first of seven Sunset League victories by trouncing the Newport Harbor Tars 34-0. Anaheim produced one of its finest offensive efforts of the season running up a total of 293 yards net offense, good for 12 first downs and five touchdowns. Anahi's defense was also in tune as the Tars were limited to only 89 yards rushing and passing. Halfback Dennis Branchaud led the procession of Colony scorers with two TD's. Also in the scoring column were Ty Salness, Marty Hutchison, and Larry Minter.

From Excellent Guidance by Capable Coaches Came Colony Success, Spirit

Anaheim's arch-rival of many seasons, Fullerton High, proved a closer match in losing than the final score of 25-0 would indicate. As in previous contests the Colonists' standout paved the way to Anabi's fourth victory by allowing the Indians only 76 yards total offense. Leading 7-0 on a touchdown by Doug Daniels, Anaheim did not appear to have a strong hold on the game as the first half ended. However, as the Colony defense began to jell late in the third quarter, Anaheim put the game away by scoring once in the third and twice in the fourth quarter.

Salness, Luttrull Earned Top Spots In '62 CIF Honor

Two of the finest football players in the Southland, end Ty Salness and tackle Roy Luttrull were named to the All-CIF first and second teams, respectively, at the end of the most successful Colony gridiron season in five years. The Orange County Sports Writers picked Salness as the "Outstanding Line-man of the Year" and included Luttrull, Tom Hutton, and Jerry Gatewood in its All-County first team. Garnering further honors, Salness was named "Player of the Year" on the 1962 All-Sunset League team.

In the first practice tilt of the 1962 season, the Colony footballers defeated the Chaffey Tigers 27-14. Anaheim's first TD came as Jerry Gatewood plunged over from the 3 yard line after Jim Dena had carried the pigskin from the Anaheim 32 on the previous play. The Colony's second touchdown came when quarterback Doug Daniels engineered a 23-yard pass play in which Ty Salness rambled over for the score. Salness took a pass from Dick Hough at the Chaffey 30-yard line and raced through the defenders for the third TD. Luis Torres' conversion, followed by a Chaffey touchdown, set the score at 20-7. Marty Hutchison picked up the final score of the night on a tremendous run from the Tiger 23-yard stripe. The scoring ended as Torres converted to make it 27-14.

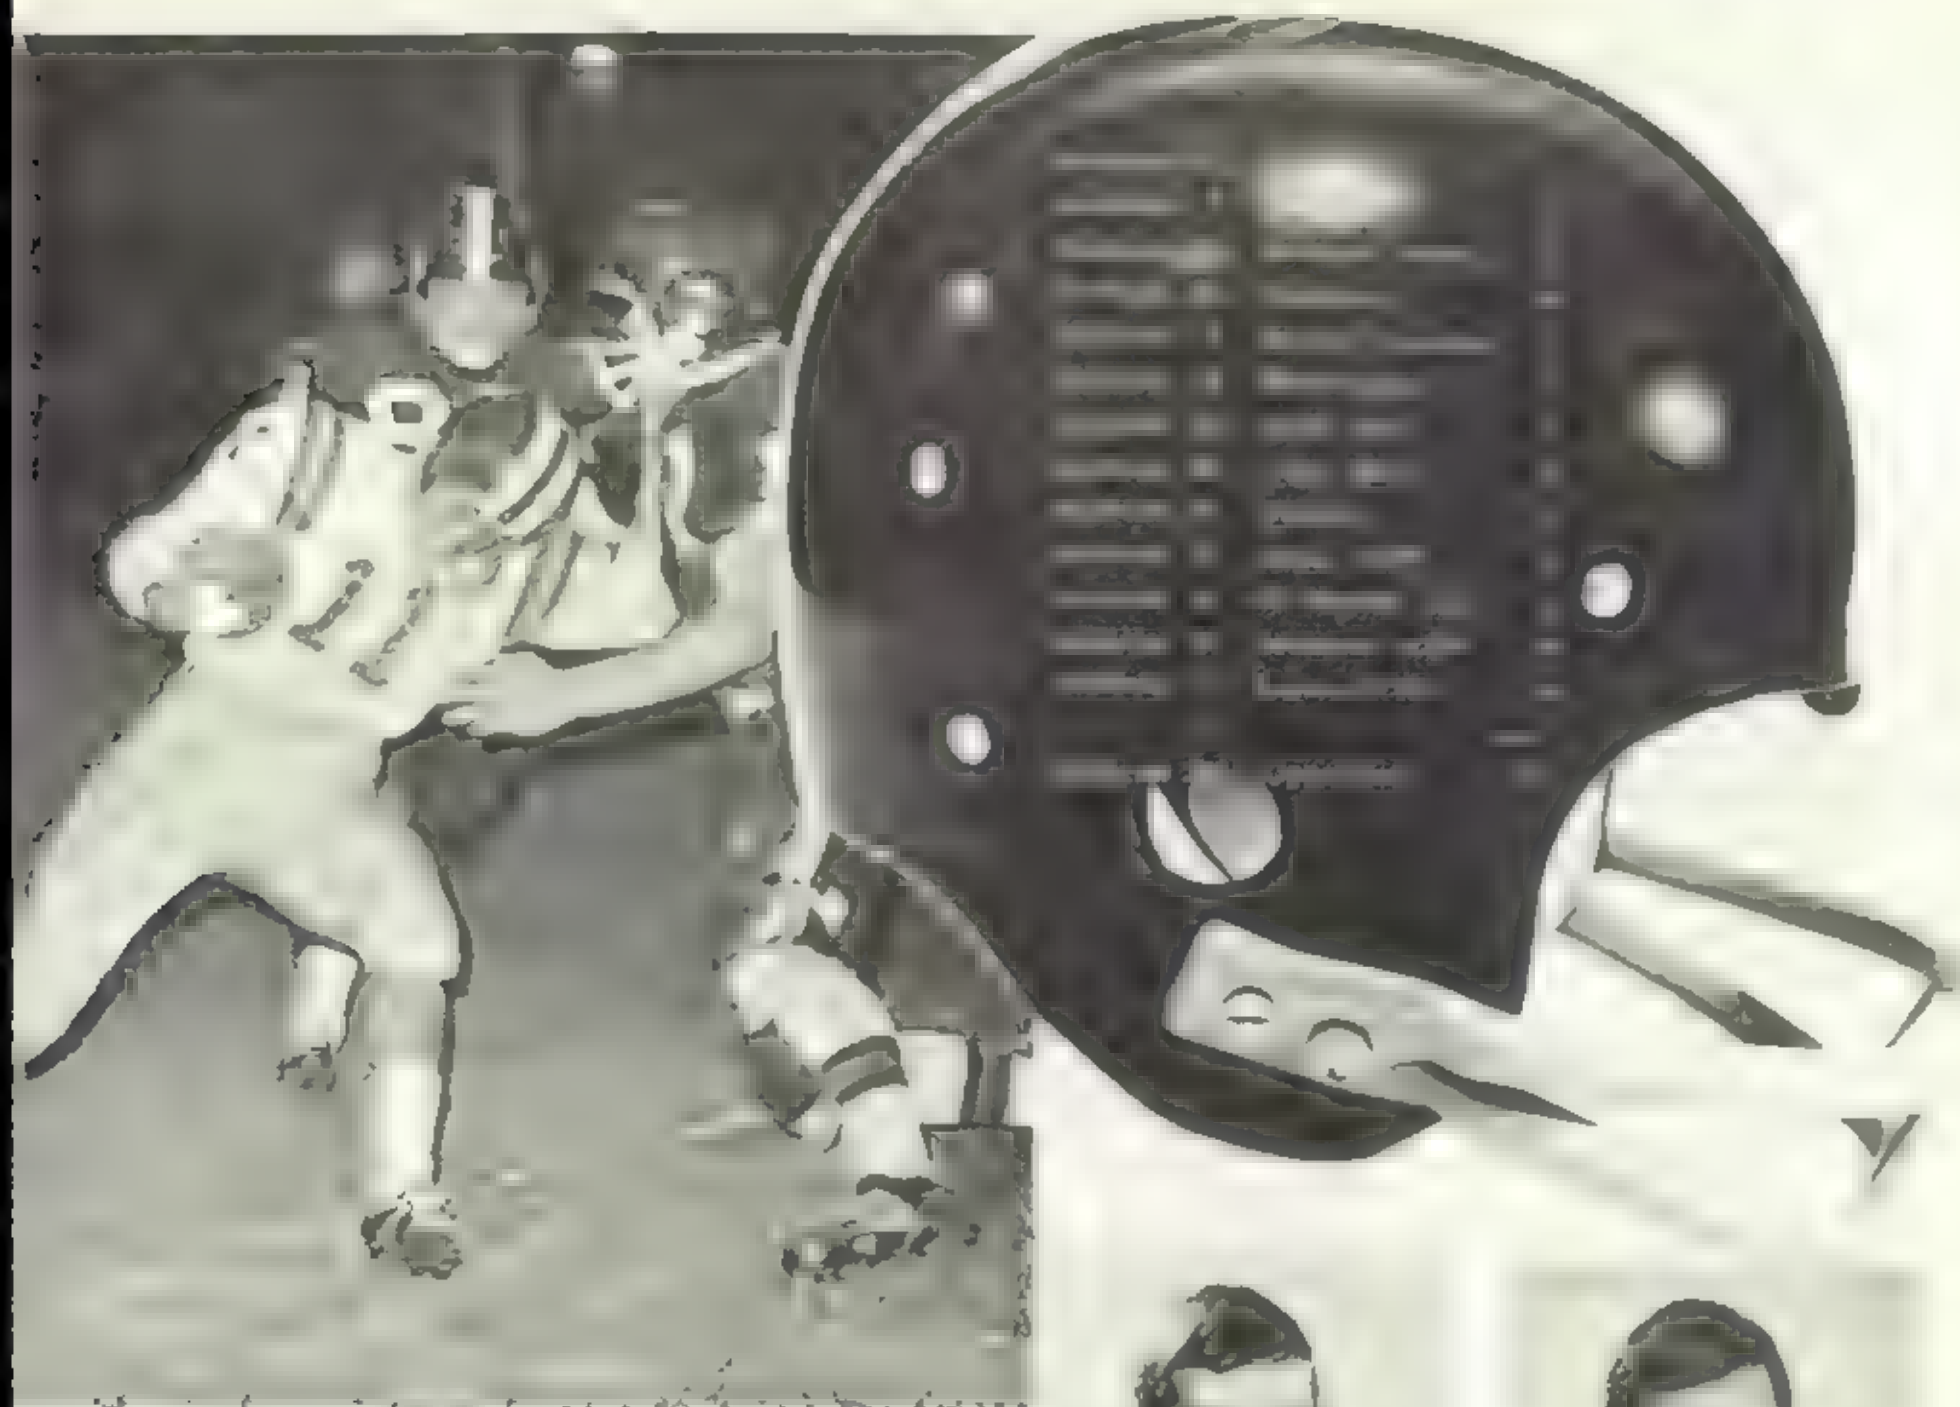

Although picked as underdogs against the defending CIF champion Redlands Terriers, the Colonists brought home a thrilling 7-3 victory. Redlands scored on the Colony early in the second quarter with a 20-yard field goal. Anaheim did not score until the first half of the third when halfback Jim Dena scampered eight yards for the touchdown. Luis Torres added the extra point and the score stood at 7-3 for the remainder of the evening. However, on the kickoff following the Anahi TD Redlands moved the ball 80 yards for a touchdown, only to have it called back because of a clipping penalty. In the waning moments of the game, Ty Salness intercepted a pass on the Terriers' 9 yard stripe, but the Vanmen were unable to capitalize on it before the gun sounded.

Fullback Jerry Gatewood (35) tromps around Anaheim's right end to pick up the needed yardage for a first down. Phil Anton (39), tackle, lends Gatewood a helping hand. Anaheim defeated Fullerton 25-0.

Ty Salness and Roy Luttrull congratulate each other on CIF honors. Luttrull placed on second team as a tackle while Salness placed on first team as an end.

Jim Dena (11) smashes into a Western offender in spirited try for yardage. This game against Western posted Anaheim's ninth successive win for the season. Anaheim defeated Western 27-14

Anaheim moved to the top of the CIF ratings after an 18-0 defeat of the Westminster Lions, considered to be the Vanmen's toughest opponent of the Sunset League season. In addition, the victory virtually squelched any hopes that Westminster had of winning the League crown. Playing before a standing-room-only crowd in Westminster stadium, the Colonists put together the team effort that they knew they would need to win. Although outweighed in all departments, Anaheim's defense held the Lions to 147 yards total offense as opposed to the 30-yard average they had rolled up against previous opponents.

Thanks to the heads-up playing of tackle Howard Whitney, Anaheim managed to get by the surprising Rancho Alamitos Vaqueros 7-0. It was not until Whitney pounced on a Vaquero fumble in the Rancho end-zone that the deciding points were scored. It was a game in which penalties were abundant — Anaheim being assessed 83 yards in rules infractions and Rancho 40. Every time the Colony was in position to score a touchdown, a penalty would cut the drive short. As in other games during the season, the defensive platoon dominated Anaheim's play. The Vanmen held the Vaqueros to 90 yards in total offense during the game.

Colony Team Brings Home League Title For 15th Great Year

Combining top-notch defensive and offensive play, the Colonists defeated the always dangerous Santa Ana Saints 34-6. The defensive unit limited the Saints to 164 yards total offense, and the offensive added 318 yards, good for five touchdowns, to complete the Colonist victory. Anaheim first drew blood with five minutes remaining in the first quarter as Marty Hutchison plunged over from the four. Some three minutes later, halfback Jim Dena set the crowd on its heels with a 79-yard punt return for the second score. After a sustained Colony drive of 80 yards, Bob White rammed over for the third score. Luis Torres' second conversion made it 20-0 as the half ended. In the third quarter Dick Hough sped 38 yards to up the score to 27-0. By then the game had nearly been decided. After long gainers by White and Jerry Gatewood, Gatewood plunged over from the one to insure the victory. Torres converted and the score stood at 34-0. With three minutes left in the game, the Anaheim bench cleared, Santa Ana received the honor of being the first team to score on the Vanmen during the Sunset League season. This important victory clinched the league title for Coach Clare Van Hoorebeke's Colonists.

During one of its greatest scoring binges in several years, Anaheim crushed the Costa Mesa Mustangs 48-6. After the first quarter of play in which the Mesans somehow managed to hold the Colonists scoreless, the Van-men unleashed a 7-touchdown attack that left Costa Mesa reeling. In all, five players scored for the Colonists — Jim Dena, Dick Hough, Dennis Branchaud, Marty Hutchison, and Ty Salness. One of the evening's finest performances was turned in by Anahi's sensational 128-pound quarterback Doug Daniels, who threw two touchdown passes, a 25-yard fling to Dena, and a 28-yard toss to end Salness.

Anaheim withstood a determined drive by Western High to annex a 27-14 victory. In the second quarter, the Pioneers became the first team in the league to score ahead of the Colonists. Anaheim got back into the ball game when Marty Hutchison raced over from the 3-yard line. In the third quarter Hutchison scored again for the Colony on an 8-yard run. "Hutch" also scored Anahi's third TD when he went over from the three. Luis Torres' conversion made it 21-7. More thrills were to come, however, as Dennis Branchaud raced 72 yards for the final score, some three minutes before Western racked up the game's final touchdown.

Vanmen Win 12 Tilts

Sparked once again by the work of the defensive platoon, the Colonists moved to a 21-6 win over the Aztecs of Azusa High School. This game entered AHS in CIF competition. Anahi's first TD came when Marty Hutchison plunged over from the 1-yard line. In the second quarter, Ty Salness intercepted an Azusa pass and raced 60 yards for the score. The third TD resulted from a 22-yard pass play from Doug Daniels to Salness late in the third quarter. Luis Torres' third conversion of the night set the score at 21-0, before Azusa scored in the final minutes of the game.

In the CIF quarter-finals, the Colonists scored a 14-6 victory over the rugged El Rancho Dons. In the second quarter, Anaheim was forced to punt from its own 35-yard line. The El Rancho safety called for a fair catch but was unable to hold onto the ball. Howard Whitney quickly pounced on the fumble, and Anaheim took over on the Dons' 21-yard line. Anaheim scored with eight minutes left in the half, with the help of a 15-yard run by Dennis Branchaud, and a goal-line plunge by Marty Hutchison. The half ended with Anaheim leading 7-0. With consistent passing, quarterback Tom Eagan moved the ball to the Colony 7-yard line. However, defensive half Ty Salness intercepted Eagan's pass and ran 98 yards down the sidelines for the second score.

A fighting Anaheim Colonist football team met its Waterloo in the finals of the CIF "AAAA" championship. Outweighed and run-down by the Loyola Cubs and their star tailback Steve Grady, the Colonists expended every ounce of effort they had in coming out on the losing end of a 14-3 decision. This, the final encounter of the CIF gridiron season, was played before some 19,000 fans in the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum. The Colony dominated play in the first half, scoring on Luis Torres' 28-yard field goal in the second quarter. Marty Hutchison picked up most of the first half yardage for the Colonists. Anaheim held its lead until the clock showed one minute remaining in the third quarter, when Grady raced 28 yards for the first Loyola TD. Grady also added the extra point and the score stood at 7-3. Then, midway in the fourth stanza, Grady literally crashed through the Colony defense for the second score. The PAT made it 14-3. The proud Colonists had gone down to defeat—fighting from start to finish.

Anaheim met its long-time rival, Redlands High, for the second time in 1962. This time it was for real blood in the semi-finals of the California Interscholastic Federation championships and, for the second time, the Colonists brought home victory, this time with a 21-9 decision. Before a turnout of some 15,000 football fans from all over the Southland, the Colony took a 7-0 lead by the end of the first quarter of play. the kickoff following the score, however, the Colony built up a lead that was never relinquished. Anahi star Hutchison moved the ball 28 yards in five consecutive plays to make it 14-9, after Torres converted. In the final stanza, quarterback Doug Daniels, went to the air on a 23-yard pass play that moved the ball to the Terriers' 13-yard line. On the next play he flipped the pigskin to end Ty Salness, who raced into the end-zone for the final score. The PAT ended the scoring at 21-9.

Qualifying second for the Sunset League title, this year's JV squad of Anaheim High tallied six wins, two losses, and one forfeit. The first loss came in a pre-season game when Chaffey damped the Colonists' team 13-0. Making a quick recovery and managing to keep their spirit high, Anaheim rallied back with five consecutive wins. The first win came against Redlands, 7-6, followed closely by Newport, 20-0. Then the Morrisonmen faced the Fullerton Indians whom they downed 26-0. And next came Rancho Alamitos which proved to be Anaheim's biggest upset, 34-6. The last of the five consecutive wins was Westminster, 32-20. Then the winning streak halted as Santa Ana forfeited. Finally came Costa Mesa whom the JV's defeated 14-0. Then Western defeated Anahi 27-14.

Posting a six win, two loss, and one tie record this year's Anaheim B squad captured a third place in Sunset League. Pre-season play predicted a successful season as Anahi romped over Chaffey 27-0 and Redlands 7-0. At the start of league play, however, the going got rough, but Anahi managed to pull through with a 20-14 win over Newport. Long time rival, Fullerton, proved unsuccessful against Anahi as the Colonists downed the Indians 18-0. Rancho Alamitos fell to Anahi 15-0. Westminster almost defeated the Colonists in a dual that ended 13-13. When the time rolled around for the Santa Ana Saints to face the Liebhartmen, the Saints captured a 17-0 win. The disheartened Colonists then defeated Costa Mesa 13-6, and dropped their final battle to Western 14-6.

Anaheim's C's used a sparkling defensive unit to pick up another Sunset League first place title which they shared with Newport. In nine games Coach Hick's team yielded only 45 points. The inspired boys shut out six opponents on their march to the league championship.

Chaffey was the Colony's first victim, falling by a score of 19-0. San Gabriel hit Anaheim with its first setback. Anaheim opened league play by tying with Newport 13-13. A near miss by the Colony came when they defeated Fullerton 2-0. Rancho Alamitos fell easily 20-0.

With spirit and goals set high the C squad faced Westminster who whalloped the Colony 25-7. Santa Ana found it impossible to find pay dirt as Anahi defeated them 18-0. Costa Mesa, new members to the Sunset League, fell to the Colonist graces 49-0. Last but not least, the Colonists faced Western whom they clobbered 20-0.

Coaches Marty Hicks and Bob Hager found that their efforts to produce a championship team were not wasted. At the season's end, Anaheim's C team tied with Newport for first place. This rating was attained through a spirited team drive.

Anaheim High's varsity cross country squad ended an otherwise losing season on a high note, winning its last meet of the season, 15-47, against Costa Mesa.

Head Coach
Duane Cain

The thinclads lost their first six meets of the season, suffering defeat against Western, 15-47; Newport Harbor, 17-45; Fullerton, 27-28; Rancho Alamitos, 25-31; Westminster, 15-50, and Santa Ana, 19-37. (Note: the lowest score wins in cross country).

Although the Anaheim varsity compiled a disappointing record for the 1962 season, Coach Duane Cain is looking forward to next year's team with great expectations. Next year's varsity team expects to have six returning lettermen, whereas this year they had only two. Another bright spot for the Colony was Tom Hood's record tying time for the Anaheim course — 10:42. Those earning varsity letters this year were Mark Rowland, Tom Hood, Dick Herr, Don Weslosky, Bob Chase, Don McLean, and Vic Zayas. Of these men, Weslosky, with 23 points; Chase, 35; and McLean, 37, were the team leaders in the Sunset League finals.

Finishing strong late in the season, the Colony junior varsity cross country team ended with a 3-3 won-loss record for the season. Although the junior varsity team started out the season slowly, losing its first two meets of the season to Newport Harbor, 19-52, and Fullerton, 20-123, the harriers started their winning ways by annexing three of their next four meets, beating Rancho Alamitos, 2-34, losing to Westminster, 19-44, and then taking decisions from Santa Ana, 17-46, and Costa Mesa, 15-63. Jerry Sigala tied Tom Hood's record-tying performance of 10:42 for the Anaheim course en route to victory in the Costa Mesa meet. Anaheim's nine lettermen for the 1962 season were Gerry Bushore, Jim Graham, Larry Landskron, Tom Saver, Jerry Sigala, Jim Wambua, Rick Sloan, Craig Symonds, and Walter Waid.

Although 1963 proved to be a disappointing year for the Anaheim varsity water polo squad, the team showed touches of brilliance at times. After losing their first five matches of the season to Upland, 11-0, Lakewood, 6-5, Newport, 5-3, Fullerton, 11-1, and Millikan, 5-1, the poloists won their next three by defeating Santa Ana, 12-0, Jordan, 4-3, and Western, 8-4. However, defeat stepped into the picture once again as the Colonists lost to Santa Ana, 5-4, Newport, 17-2, Western, 6-1, and Fullerton, 12-3, to finish the season with a 3-9 won-lost record. Lettering for the varsity were Leroy Carlson, Don Laster, Wayne Goddard, Bill Stephens, Mike Smith, Bill Crist, Chuck Payton, Jon Radke, Roger Decker, Terry Reish, Allen Wentz, and Chuck Janzow.

Wrestlers Showed Excellent Ability, Varied Technique

Although 1963 did not prove to be a winning season for the Anaheim wrestling team, it was a year of building for future teams, since much experience was gained. On the season, the Anahi grapplers compiled a two win, 10 loss record. The Colonists' wins came against Santa Ana 47-8 and Costa Mesa 30-27. Losses came at the hands of Newport, 46-15; Rancho Alamitos, 37-16; Sierra, 41-15; Upland, 50-6; Western, 32-19; Garden Grove, 33-21; Fullerton, 41-17; Bolsa Grande, 31-21; Westminster, 51-0; and El Rancho, 48-11. Their two win, 5 loss put them in sixth place in the Sunset League standings. In the League tournament Roy Luttrull won first in the heavyweight class, Larry Callison placed first in the 141 lb. class, and Sonny Beavers took third in the 130 lb. group.

At the Orange Coast tournament Anaheim placed fourth in the team competition. Larry Callison and Roy Luttrull finished first in their weight divisions, while Sonny Beavers took third in the 130-lb. weight class. One of the few bright spots in the season was Callison's fifth place finish in the CIF finals held at Long Beach State College. Anaheim's other outstanding wrestler, Luttrull, who went undefeated during the season, was unable to compete in the CIF finals because of a separated shoulder.

Anaheim's hopes for a CIF basketball championship were squelched when the Colonist basketekers met defeat at the hands of the West Covina Spartans, 61-47, in the opening round of CIF "AAA" competition. Except for the opening moments, when the Colonists jumped to a 5-2 lead, they trailed the Spartans during the entire contest. By the end of the first quarter, West Covina had built up an 8-5 lead, and the half-time break saw the Spartans ahead 24-16. At one point in the second half, the Colonists cut the Spartans' lead to six points, but were unable to catch them. Anaheim's Loy Petersen, named Sunser League "Player of the Year", paced all scorers with 25 points. The loss gave the Colonists a 23-5 won-loss record for the season.

Starting out the season, Coach Don Liebhart's varsity basketball team traveled to Redlands for their first practice tilt. Leading the Terriers at halftime, 15-10, the Colonists broke away in the second half to bring home a 42-29 win. Anahi found its next opponent, Ventura, more difficult. By the end of the first half of play, the Colonists trailed 25-18. The Anaheim defense made a brilliant stand in the last quarter holding their opponents to four points. However, the damage had already been done and the Colony five went down in defeat, 49-45. In their next encounter the Colonists managed to hold off a second half surge by the Santa Barbara Dons to annex a 52-50 decision on the loser's court.

In the first round of the Beverly Hills High School tournament, Anaheim blew a 35-26 first half lead to come out on the losing end against Montebello, 63-51, even though Loy Petersen scored 29 points that night. Anaheim entered the Consolation flight of the Beverly Hills tournament against Morningside and staged a fourth quarter rally that produced a 52-48 win. Paced by a 21 point effort by Petersen, the Colonists grabbed a close one from Redondo, 52-48, enabling them to enter the finals of the Consolation flight. Anaheim finished second to Bellflower after losing a 51-45 decision. Though leading 24-19 at the halftime break, the Colony fell back three points by the three-quarter mark and couldn't make up the deficit. In their first home game of the year, the Colonists held down the Alhambra Moors 51-47.

Anahei met early season foe, Redlands, in the first round of the San Bernardino tournament at Pacific High School and clobbered the Terriers in the second half to win easily 51-36. With Petersen scoring 21, and Dick Hough adding 15, Anahi held off Centennial High in the second round. Though ahead by 10 points at halftime, the Colonists saw their lead dwindle to four points before winning 62-58. After leading 28-23 at the half and 41-37 at the end of three quarters, the Colonists faltered in the last minutes to suffer their first defeat of the tournament, losing to San Bernardino 46-45. Anahi met the Santa Ana Saints in the battle for the tournament's third spot and won 52-35, finding the Saints a much less difficult opponent than they were to become later in the race for the Sunset League title. The Colonists finished up their practice schedule with a record of eight wins and four losses, paced by the 19.8 point-per-game scoring average of forward Loy Petersen.

In the first round of action in the Sunset League race, Anaheim traveled to Newport and made short work of the Tars, winning 56-36. The following week, the Colonists hosted the Fullerton Indians and won 52-44, largely by virtue of Petersen's 26 point scoring effort.

Sunset League Record

The Colonists continued their winning ways by crushing Rancho Alamitos 53-32, on the loser's hardwood. The Vaqueros trailed Anahi at halftime by an almost insurmountable margin of 12 points. Carrying a 3-0 record into the game, the Colony completely routed the Westminster Lions 65-27. The Lions' total would not even have held up against the combined efforts of Anahi's two top scorers, Petersen, who had 19, and Ken Stephens, who had 11. After trailing at the half 33-18, Westminster managed to score only 9 points during the entire second half, as compared with Anaheim's 32.

The Colony met its only defeat of the season at the hands of the Santa Ana Saints in a close 34-32 decision in the Anaheim gymnasium. After Santa Ana jumped into the lead at the end of the first half, the two teams played head-to-head ball for the remainder of the game. Leading scorers for the Colony were Petersen, with 13, and Hough, with 11. On the night Anaheim managed to hit for only 25 per cent of its field goal attempts, while Santa Ana scored 27 per cent of the time. This important encounter dropped the Colonists one full game behind the Saints in the race for the Sunset League championship. The league's newest addition, Costa Mesa's Mustangs, invaded Anaheim in hopes of victory, but were stunned by Loy Petersen's 29 point scoring spectacle which paced Anaheim to an 83-69 victory. The Colonists met cross-town rival Western in the last contest of the first round of the Sunset League championship and breezed to a 62-43 win, after leading by 15 points at halftime. Anahi sported a 6-1 record but was still one game behind the Santa Ana Saints.

The Colonists opened up the second round by defeating Newport Harbor 66-52, with the help of Petersen's 24 points. The Tars trailed at the half 28-3, and were never able to close the gap. Anaheim traveled to Fullerton and beat the Indians for the second time in the year. Leading 31-22 at the halftime break, Anahi put the game on ice in the second half for a 57-40 win. Anaheim came back to the home courts for the Rancho game and smashed the Vaqueros 75-41, with Petersen's 21, and Pat Watt's 14 points setting the pace. Liebhart's forces vanquished the Westminster Lions 88-26, though, for all intents and purposes, the game was really over at halftime, when the Colonists had amassed a 52-10 lead.

Anaheim now faced its most important test of the season. Anaheim carried a 10 win, one loss record into the Santa Ana College gymnasium knowing that a win would be necessary in order to gain a first place tie with the Santa Ana Saints. Anaheim, entering the game a slight underdog after losing to the Saints earlier in the year, jumped to a 13-8 lead at the end of the first quarter. By halftime the Colonists had extended the advantage to 19-12. In the second half the Saints fought desperately to even the score but could get no closer than four points of Anaheim on any occasion. Leading Anahi in the scoring department were Dick Hough, who tallied 14 points, and Pat Watt, who added 10. The Colonists' 49-40 victory put them in an exact tie with the Saints for the Sunset League's first spot, both teams sporting 11-1 records. After defeating Costa Mesa 81-52, and Western 65-36, to finish out the season, the Colonists were still tied with Santa Ana. It was decided by the flip of a coin that Anaheim would be ranked first in the Sunset League in CIF play-off competition.

At the end of the season, Anahi's Loy Petersen was paid the highest tribute afforded a player in Southern California basketball circles, being named CIF "Player-of-the-Year."

Cowser's Charges Win 1963 Sunset League JV Title

JV Coach
Brant Cowser

B Coach
Tom Danley

Coach Brant Cowser's Anaheim junior varsity basketball team wound up another highly successful season, winning the 1962 Sunset League championship with a 13 win, one loss record. The Colonists' over-all record for the season was 19-2. In practice competition, Anaheim lost its first game to Ramona 47-35. However, the Colonists bounced back to take their next six in a row, defeating in the process La Habra, 53-26; Santa Ana Valley, 72-26; Costa Mesa, 64-31; and Santa Ana, 32-28, to win first place in the Santa Ana junior varsity tourney, and Savanna, 47-31 and 61-29. Anahi started off the season by trouncing Newport, 52-28. The Colonists then added six consecutive wins, beating Fullerton, 39-27; Rancho, 54-32; Westminster, 66-55; Santa Ana, 46-16; Costa Mesa, 61-41; and Western, 54-45; before losing to the eventual runner-up, Newport, 52-43. Fullerton, 60-38; Rancho, 57-42; Westminster, 74-35; Santa Ana, 42-33; Costa Mesa, 56-32; and Western, 47-40; then bowed to the Anaheim five.

Butch Bray served as captain, and at the end of the year, Tim Jolly was selected "Most Valuable Player." Earning junior varsity letters were Jene Alexander, Bray, Bob Chase, Jack Hurst, Bob Jacobel, Jolly, Russ Koch, Larry Minter, Rick Nelson, Mark Thatcher, Bob Wines, and manager Tom Patterson.

B's Annex Crown With 14-0 Record

Compiling a perfect 14-0 record, the Anaheim B's completed the Colony's sweep of three out of four divisions by following the varsity and junior varsity teams to the Sunset League championship. Anaheim swept its first eight practice games, handing losses to Loara, 47-18; Sierra, 44-36; La Habra, 41-20 and 51-24; Alhambra, 47-36; Magnolia, 45-49; Santiago, 58-30 and Buena Park, 56-34; before losing to Western, 59-48; and Magnolia, 35-34.

Anaheim wrapped up first place by twice defeating the Newport Harbor Tars, who finished second in the league race. In the first round of Sunset League action, Anahi beat Newport, 46-39; Costa Mesa, 45-32; and Western, 54-33. Coach Tom Danley's charges did equally well in the second round defeating Newport, 51-24; Fullerton, 63-34; Rancho Alamitos, 68-23; Westminster, 50-32; Santa Ana, 44-39; Costa Mesa, 46-39; and Western, 65-39.

Those earning B letters for 1963 were Mike Alderson, Al Anton, Don Barrett, Ron Davini, Dick Herr, Charlie Jurva, Larry Landskron, Larry Markland, Bill Merk, Jerry Pharris, Bob Solberg, Stu Stark, and Mike Stenger.

Anaheim's C basketball team, the defending Sunset League champs, placed second in the 1963 league race, one game behind the Santa Ana Saints. The Colonists finished up their schedule with an 11-3 record for the season, as compared to the Saints' 12-2 record on the year. Off to a slow start in the first round of competition, the Colonists posted the best record in the second round by winning their last six games of the season and closing the gap between them and Santa Ana. At one point in the race, the Saints were three full games ahead of Anahi. Two of the C's most impressive wins came against Santa Ana 31-29, and Costa Mesa 39-37. Ron Pina, Anahi's leading scorer and defensive ace, was named "Best All-Around Player." Because of his outstanding ball control, leadership, and defensive and scoring ability, Art Rodriguez was selected "Most Valuable Player" for the C's. Leading the team in the rebounding department were Steve Ravencamp and Bill Gillard, winner of the "Most Improved Player" award. Mike Colgate, an outstanding shooter when the going got tough, and Kenny Dye, who displayed fine all-around ability, filled out the starting "SIX."

Track Became Most Improved Sport At AHS

After winning their first Sunset League meet in three years and compiling a 3-0 record as this yearbook went to press, Coach Bob Hager's varsity tracksters appeared a large threat to beat some of the finest teams in the League. Hager, with assistant coaches, Duane Cain and Norm Barrington, stated that the new-found success could be attributed to the fact that his team was no longer handicapped by the lack of talent brought about by the split-up three years ago when Savanna and Magnolia were formed.

Anaheim picked up its only loss of the season when beaten by Magnolia 60-44. In this, the first event of the year, the Colonists were sparked by Jim Watkins' double wins. In all, Anahi won five out of 12 first places. In their first Sunset League meet, the Colonists defeated Newport Harbor 56-47. Anaheim showed good depth in this outing, though only winning five out of 12 events. Rick Sloan set a new broad jump record in this meet. At Fullerton, the Colony tracksters scalped the Indians 64-40, with Watkins, Manual Rodriguez, Ty Salness, and Dennis Ruble turning out their best performances in their respective events. In defeating Rancho Alamitos, Anaheim took 11 out of 12 firsts, and five out of eleven seconds. The Colonists finished fifth in the Santa Ana Relays.

Also among the record-setters was the C 440 yard relay team, composed of Gary Glass, Mark Nitchke, Gary Schmidt, and Frank Figueroa. They came in with a time of 46.9 topping previous bests.

B TRACKSTERS Showed Potential As Year Proceeded

Anaheim's B's compiled a 3-0 record in Sunset League competition and looked like a team to watch in the loop race.

In the first meet of 1963, the Colonists defeated Loara 66-31, and Magnolia 60-35, in a double-dual outing. Though weak in the field events, Anaheim eked out a 49-46 win over the Newport Harbor Tars, paced by the double wins of Darrel Hickman and Bob Vandezande. Picking up nine out of two first places, the Colonists won over Fullerton 64-31. Bill Cross, Tom Mattingly, Gary Howell, Dick Herr, and Stu Stark were all winners. Anaheim won first in every event to beat Ranch 81-10.

C Thinclads Built For 1964 Season

Though not as successful as the Varsity and B's, the C's fashioned a one win, two loss record at presstime. The Anaheim contingent lacked experience, but will provide valuable material for next year's higher division teams.

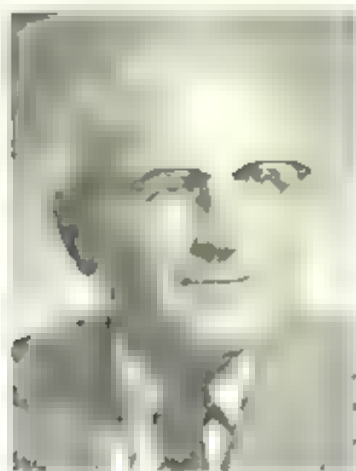

Anahi started out the year defeating Magnolia 64-21, and Loara 69-16, in a double-dual meet. Against Newport, the C's lost a close one 43 $\frac{1}{2}$ -42 $\frac{1}{2}$. Russ Moy, Gary Schmidt, Ed Hernandez, Bob Johnson, and Leroy Stewart all picked up wins. At Fullerton, the Colonists showed a definite lack of depth, though they picked up six out of a possible ten first places. Frank Figueroa was a double winner, taking both the 100-yard dash, and the 180-yard low hurdles. The Colony lost to Fullerton 55-31. Anahi annexed a 64-22 win from Rancho Alamitos, on the strength of wins by Steve Fowler, Ron Negrette, Alex Vega, Hernandez, Stewart, Johnson, and Figueroa.

Anaheim Baseballers Made Hustling Bid For League Honors

Head Coach
John Wall

Coach John Wallin's Colonists looked like a sure bet to finish high in the Sunset League standings, when, at deadline time, the Anaheim nine sported a record of one win, no losses, and one tie.

Trailing 1-0 in the top of the first, Anaheim came back with three runs in their half of the inning, added four more in the second, and scored the final marker in the fourth to whip Paramount 8-2. Colony flinger Dave Bryce got credit for the win. Able to collect only five hits, the Colonists went down in defeat against the Whittier Cardinals 5-3, in the season's second practice game. After going the regulation seven innings with neither team scoring, Anaheim fell as La Mirada scored twice in the eighth to win 2-0. Behind the pitching efforts of Dick Baney and Bob Monaco, who allowed only two hits between them, the Colonists nipped Chaffey 3-1. Highlighting the game was Ron Davini's first inning home run. In the first game of the Sunset League season, Anaheim battled Newport Harbor to a 1-1 tie for nine innings, before the game was called on account of darkness, and rescheduled for a later date. Anaheim trailed 1-0 for six innings, but tied things up in the sixth. Unloading a 13 hit attack sparked by Gary Schmidt's third inning homer and second baseman Doug Daniels' four hits, the Colonists beat Fullerton 9-2.

Colony Horsehidlers Sought Top Spot in Sunset League Race With Two Early Wins

After compiling a mediocre 2-1-1 record in practice competition, Coach Jack Lee's junior varsity baseball players jumped into the first spot in the Sunset League standings with two straight wins against no defeats, as this book's deadline arrived.

The Colonist horsehidlers hosted Paramount in their first encounter of the season. Paced by left fielder Jim McGuire, who scored three runs and contributed two hits, Anaheim soundly whipped the Pirates 6-2, on the Colony diamond. In their next practice game, the Colonists whalloped the Whittier Cardinals 8-2, with effective pitching from winning flinger, Hal Gregg. Anahi scored four times in the sixth inning to put the game on ice. Scoring once in each of the first three innings, the JV's held a 3-2 lead in their clash with the La Mirada Matadors. However, La Mirada scored twice in the fifth to grab a 4-3 lead before the Colony tallied the tying run in the sixth. In their last practice game the Colonists lost to the Chaffey Tigers 5-3. After leading 2-1 through four innings, Anaheim blew the contest as Chaffey scored four times in the fifth.

Anaheim started out the regular season with a close 3-2 win over Newport, being led by Bob Abbott's three hits. Anaheim grabbed its second straight win by beating Fullerton 3-1 in back of the spectacular no-hit pitching of Jene Alexander. The Indians' only run was unearned.

Sophs Started Solid Season

Anaheim's sophomore baseball team got off to a flying start in the 1963 season. Under the expert guidance of first year coach Bill Miller, the sophs had compiled a 7 win, one loss, one tie record as deadline time arrived.

In their first skirmish of the year, a practice tilt, the Colonists clubbed Magnolia, 11-3 on the home diamond. The sophs followed this up by shutting out the Sunny Hills Lancers 9-0. Traveling to Whittier for their next non-league contest, the Colony nine held the Cardinals scoreless to annex a 10-0 win.

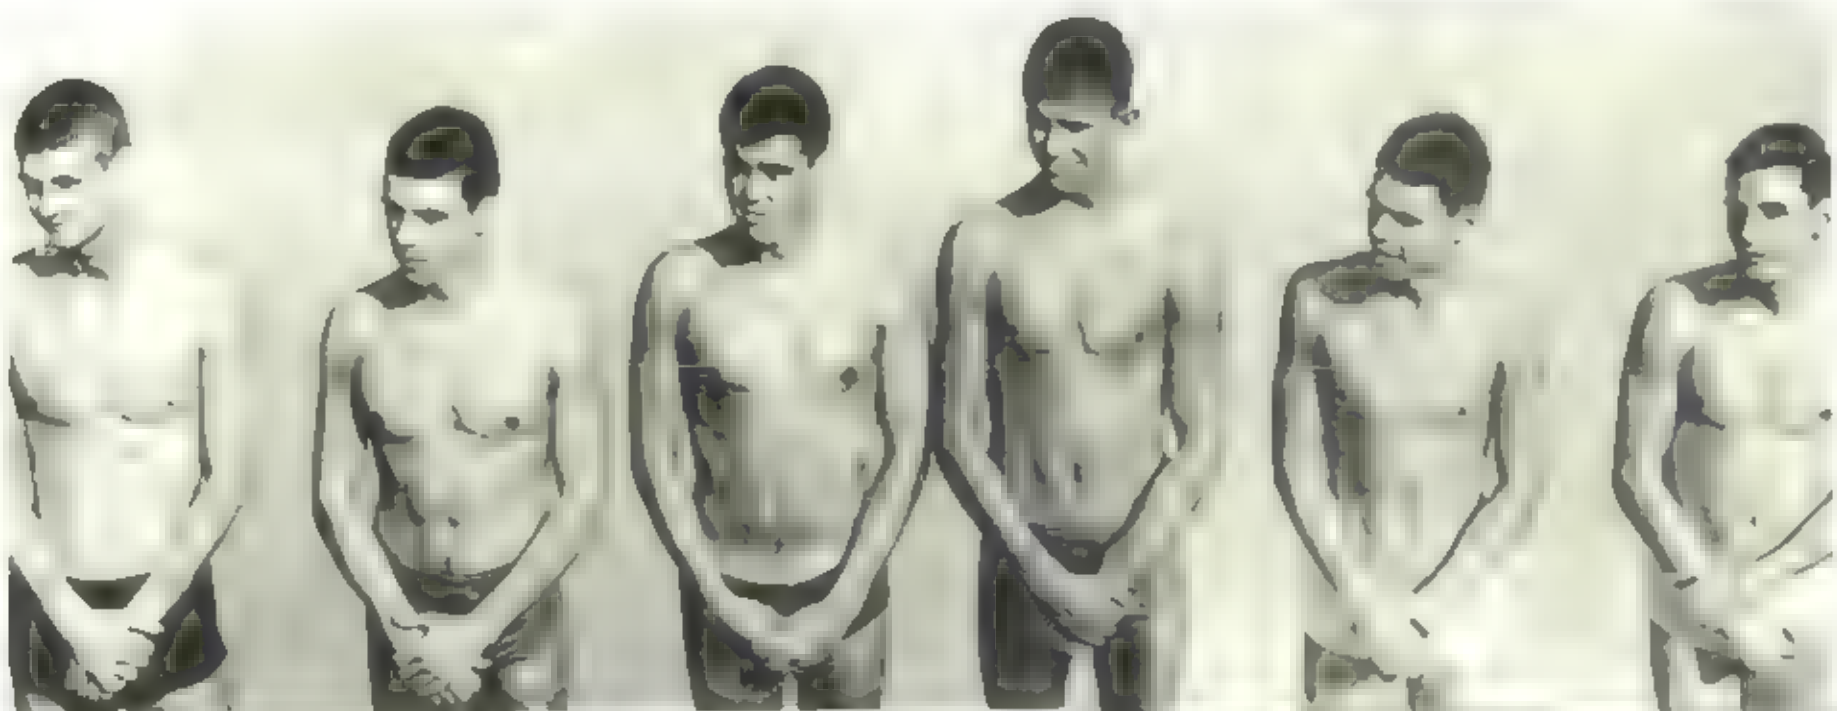

Though trailing 3-1 at the end of the second inning, Anaheim scored 17 times in the next five innings to walk away with a 18-5 win from the La Mirada Matadors. The Colonists battled Chaffey for eight innings, only to gain a 2-2 tie with the Tigers. The sophs found the going rougher than in the early season as they absorbed the first loss of the season, bowing 7-3 to Sunny Hills, a team which they had shutout earlier in the season.

The Colonists got back into their winning ways by defeating Santa Valley twice 12-2 and 12-1. Turning in a couple of steady performances, Pitcher Reg Saugstad received credit for both Anaheim wins. Rancho Alamitos proved no match for the tough Colonist contingent, losing by the one-sided score of 10-2.

Anaheim Swimmers Showed Fine Potential Under New Direction

Anaheim's varsity swimming team rode the crest of a three game winning streak as the deadline for the "Colonist" rolled around. Under the capable leadership of first year coach, Doug Earl, the Colony tritons recorded their triple victory string after losing their first four meets of the season, two of these losses coming during practice competition, and two in the course of the regular season's action.

The Colonists lost their only two non-league meets of 1963 to Millikan 63-30, and Upland 54-27. Anaheim lost in Sunset League competition to Fullerton and Newport Harbor by identical scores of 62-32, before defeating Rancho Alamitos 82-16; Westminster, 79-16; and Santa Ana, 54-40. Coming in with a time of 1:37, the varsity 200 yard freestyle relay team of Terry Reish, Wayne Goddard, Bill Stephens, and Chuck Janzow eclipsed the previous school record. In other Sunset League contests, the Colonists tangled with Costa Mesa and Western before competing in the League finals at Newport Anaheim's B and C swimming teams compiled records identical to that of the varsity, each having three wins and two losses. In their two practice encounters, the B's were beaten by Millikan 45-37, losing out on the last event of the meet; but downed Upland 68-11. During Sunset League competition the B's were defeated by Fullerton 51-34; and lost to Newport 45-37, again dropping the decision on the last event of the meet. Anahi then won the next three, outpointing Rancho, 72-9; Westminster, 62-28; and Santa Ana, 67-10.

The C's lost to Millikan 52-24; and defeated Upland 55-22. League competition found them losing to Fullerton 54-25; and Newport, 54-27; before whipping Rancho Alamitos, 54-24; Westminster, 53-24; and Santa Ana, 55-22. Bill Crist broke the existing school record in the C 50 yard butterfly with a time of 27.6.

Colony Gymnasts Displayed Skills

Although handicapped by a shortage of experienced gymnasts, Coach Ron Amster's Anaheim gymnastics team compiled a respectable 2-2 record in dual meets as the deadline for this publication arrived.

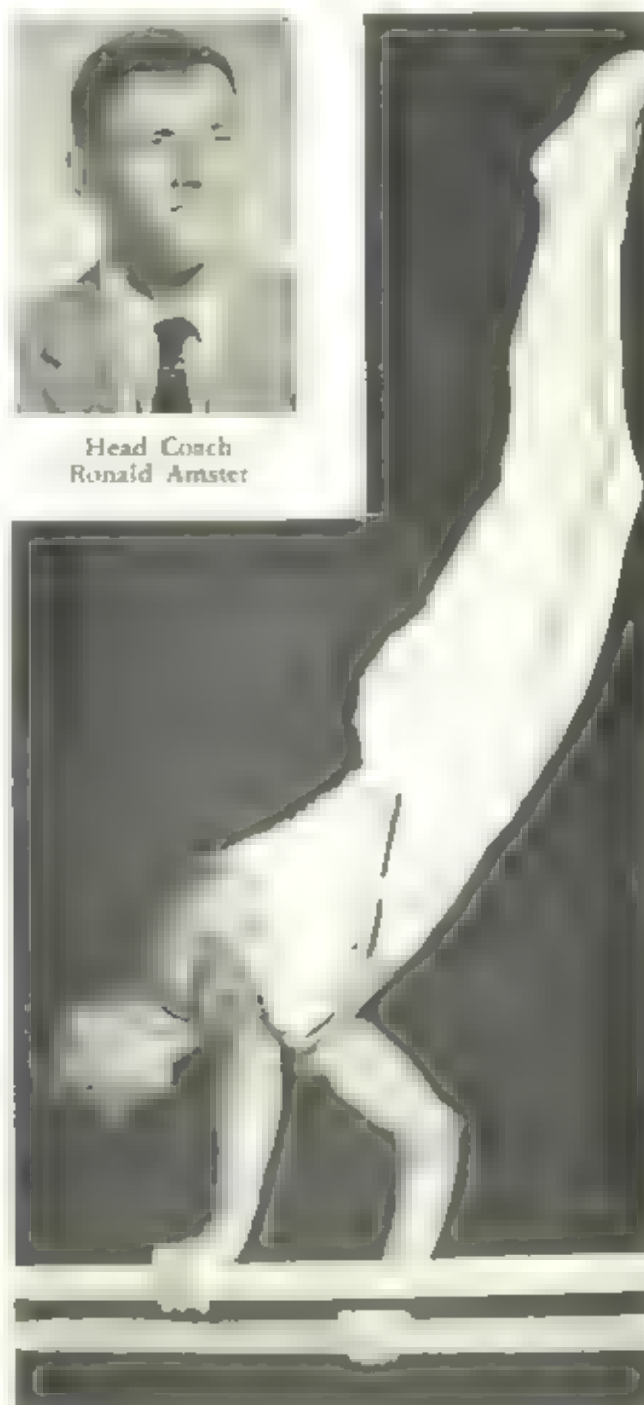

The Colonists started out the season against Lakewood, losing 75-45, despite Sid Sowder's four firsts. After losing a three-way meet to El Rancho and Wilson, Anaheim placed second in the Long Beach tourney, defeating Santa Fe 89-31, nabbed sixth at the El Rancho Invitational, and defeated Ganesha and Long Beach Poly 47, 45½, to 27, before losing to Excelsior 61-59.

Golf Again Made Part of Anaheim Athletic Program

The Colony fielded a golf team in 1963, after golf's two year absence from Anahi's interscholastic athletic program.

This two-year lay-off had a noticable effect on the team's performance, but there was no lack of interest on the part of the team members who turned out for practice in surprising numbers.

Though the Colonists lost their first two matches of the season, both practice encounters, to the Sunny Hills Lancers 27-9 and 26-10, Coach John Hangartner was hopeful that the experienced gained would be of value in Orange County Golf League competition. Kirk Hanen played in the number one spot for Anaheim, followed by Ken Dye, Conrad Hudgens, Bob Wines, Ray Giles, and Larry Harney, who rounded out the starting

Heyne's Junior Varsity Team Gained Experience

One of the surprises of the 1963 athletic year at Anahi was Coach Glenn Heyne's tennis aggregation. Long held in the background by reason of poor performance and lack of interest, this year's tennis squads were a constant threat to most of their opponents.

The varsity started off by losing a close match to Newport Harbor 17-11. Bounding back from defeat, the Colonists wiped out Rancho Alamitos, 25 $\frac{1}{2}$ -21 $\frac{1}{2}$; and defeated Westminster, 20-8; before losing to Santa Ana in a rout, 25 $\frac{1}{4}$ -23 $\frac{3}{4}$. Jack Messamer, Charlie Jurva, Gil Montano, and Larry Uhlich composed the starting four in singles, with the Gene Pearson-Mike Reeske duo and Mike Waldman and Ron Post competing in doubles.

Anaheim's junior varsity lost by $\frac{1}{2}$ point to Newport 14 $\frac{1}{4}$ -13 $\frac{3}{4}$. The Colonists then defeated Rancho, 21 $\frac{1}{2}$ -5 $\frac{1}{2}$; and Westminster, 25-2; though falling to Santa Ana, 19 $\frac{1}{4}$ -5 $\frac{3}{4}$.

Led Group to Success

Developing team spirit, cooperation, and sportsmanship through participation in competitive sports were the members of the Girls' Athletic Association. Mrs. Joan Fee, senior adviser; Mrs. Diane Taylor, junior adviser; and Mrs. Marilyn Paul, sophomore adviser, offered guidance during the year.

GAA members enjoyed an eventful year, which was well planned by the GAA cabinet headed by President Sharon Backus. The other officers were Deanna Mason, vice president, who acted as general chairman of all the GAA events held in school; Judy White, secretary, who kept a record of all proceedings of the association and the executive board; Ellen Drake, treasurer, who had charge of all funds of the association; Christie Lundquist, sports commissioner, who was in charge of all play days; Karen Larson, publicity chairman, and Kathy Callen, Girl-at-Large; who helped with all the service projects.

Each class had a board representative who reported back to their class all the happenings that occurred at each cabinet meeting. They were Marilyn Miller and Judy Cook, seniors; Linda Shigekawa and Ellen DeVos, juniors; and Kathy Smith and Jo Salness, sophomores. Sport managers were also elected to be in charge of the equipment and various play days scheduled for the year. Managers chosen were Liz Katz, basketball; Royleen Westforth, hockey; and Pam Turnipseed, volleyball.

Climaxing the year was the annual GAA banquet held at the Jolly Roger Inn. At this time officers for the coming year were announced and awards given.

The main award given at the banquet was the "Outstanding Girl of the Year" award which was awarded to Sharon Backus, GAA president. The board members traditionally present four four-year passes based on skill in sports, high scholastic standards, sincerity, cooperation, high ideals, good sportsmanship, and contribution to GAA. Only qualified seniors were eligible to receive this special privilege. Kathy Callen, Claudia Hall, Charla Hindley, and Judy White were honored with this award.

SENIORS SET PACE DURING ACTIVE YEAR

Displaying exceptional athletic ability, the outstanding senior players were selected by their respective teammates. Sharon Backus, this year's "Outstanding Basketball Player", is the first girl to ever receive this same award three years in a row. Chosen for her exhibition of hockey skill was Cathy Toupal, who played the position of center on the second team. After completing their third sport of the season, the senior class chose Eileen Ortega as the "Outstanding Volleyball Player."

The mighty seniors were successful at the basketball and hockey sports days, where they won all but one game. Seniors also participated in archery, golf, softball, tennis, and badminton.

Selected for their fine performance throughout the year were the senior "Girls of the Month." They were Sheri Gosslin, Virginia Robinson, and Kathy Fauser.

Recognition for their praiseworthy abilities is certainly deserved by each of these GAA "Girls of the Month" and "Outstanding Players."

Performing various sports with true ability and form were three junior GAA girls who were selected as outstanding players. Chalking up many baskets for her team was the "Outstanding Basketball Player", Susan Peter. Susan helped lead her team to victory by urging them on with good team spirit. Energetic Liz Katz, displaying good sportsmanship and excellent hockey skills, also qualified for the title of "Outstanding Player." Nancy Pedlar was chosen by her junior class for her fine and admirable display of volleyball techniques.

The junior class also participated in tennis, paddle tennis, swimming, and softball. Due to an early deadline, softball's "Outstanding Player" is not represented here.

Throughout the school year, a GAA girl has been chosen once every three months from each class as "GAA Girl of the Month."

Cooperation, skill in sports, sincerity, high scholastic average, good sportsmanship, and high ideals make up the qualities of a "GAA Girl of the Month." The first junior to receive this important award was Liz Katz for November. Susan Peter, a pert junior was given the honor in February. Selected in May for "Girl of the Month" was Ellen Drake. These girls deserve recognition for their talents.

GIRLS OF THE MONTH Karen Foster, Jo Salness, and Mary Farrans

Newest members of GAA, the sophomore class, also carried out the tradition of selecting outstanding players for the year 1962-63. Mary Farrans, forward, won the honor of "Outstanding Player" in the competitive sport of basketball. Contributing her talent to the hockey team was hard-hitting Jo Salness, who was selected by the sophomore class as an exceptional athlete. Helping to subdue many opponents was swift sophomore Karen Foster, who excelled in the sport of volleyball. Because of an early deadline, the "Outstanding Player" for softball is not represented here. There are several requirements that each "Outstanding Player" must fulfill. These all-important factors are high ideals, cooperation, good

SENIORS TOPPED FALL SPORTS

During the first quarter of school all GAA girls were seen practicing basketball. The first three weeks were devoted to drills, putting everyone back in shape after summer vacation. After this tedious chore was over the competition began.

One of the favorite sports in GAA was hockey. Since this game was entirely new to the sophomores, lack of experience hindered their first season greatly. Hockey to the juniors was no longer new and they were always prepared to meet any challenge. This year their season record showed much improvement. The senior hockey team one completed the year with no losses in any sports day which undoubtedly made them city champions.

GIRLS SHOWED TOP SKILL THROUGH TEAMWORK

Adviser for the girls swim team was Mrs. Diane Taylor. Mrs. Joan Fee was the adviser for the girls badminton team.

Under the leadership of Dorothy Armstrong, the spirited Anaheim tennis team finished its season with a four win, no loss record. The team had meets with Western, Savanna, Magnolia, and Tustin, two of which were held on home courts. Chosen as "The Outstanding Player" by her teammates was Marilyn Miller, a senior GAA member.

Striking their way to victory, the girls swim team brought much honor to the AHS campus. They placed first over Western and Savanna and came in second in a Tri-meet with Santa Ana and Savanna. The only loss was to Tustin in an away meet. Diane Taylor did a superb job of coaching her girls with the help of captain Jo Salness. Susi Morris was elected by her swimmers as "The Outstanding Player."

Because of the deadline of the "Colonist" the Anaheim badminton team, under the advisory of Joan Fee, had not yet competed in any meets. Much potential was shown by this group and a victorious season foreseen.

Participation on the tennis, badminton, and swim team was offered to any girl who attended Anaheim and was willing to stay after school for practice sessions. The success of the 1962-63 squads left many high goals for the coming year.

Acknowledgments

Fifty years of memories, created and recorded—this was the impetus behind the '63 Colonist staff as it attempted to produce a fiftieth volume climaxing the high standards of a half century of journalistic effort. To record clearly yet creatively the events, participants, and atmosphere of this outstanding school year was ever first in the mind of each staff member.

Although the publication of the '63 Colonist was a single effort, the workers behind the scenes were numerous. To all those who offered their time, concentration, and co-operation, a warm thanks and sincere acknowledgment is extended.

To the Western Yearbook Company true appreciation is expressed for the individual attention we received throughout the year. The personal interest held by the printers for the book made work with them enjoyable and results profitable. Personal attention was also displayed by the S. K. Smith Company who reproduced every detail of our beautiful cover to perfection. Special thanks is given to Mr. Ted Wade of the Anaheim art department who designed numerous pieces of art work for the book.

Photography, perhaps the most important phase of yearbook production, was handled this year with efficiency and outstanding co-operation under the leadership of Mr. Anthony Freeman. Hearty appreciation, felt by every staff member, is extended to the photography group composed of Hans Blank, Bob Collins, and Mike Larson who submitted superb work through the sacrifice of much individual time and effort. Also contributing to the fine photographic job was the Arsene Studio whose personal interest and first-rate work was again offered this year in the provision of senior portraits, several studio shots, and special group shots. Acknowledgment is also given to Don Loomis and the Anaheim Bulletin for various sports glossies and special activity shots.

To the administration, teachers, and coaches, appreciation is accorded for the help and co-operation they were able to offer the staff in all its endeavors.

It is difficult for me to express appreciation to "my staff" because as all of us worked together through the year and developed a closeness from the common purpose we strove toward I felt that our positions became unimportant and that we were helping each other achieve success through a combined effort. However, by necessity, the work was divided into sections and through the individual efforts of the editors our completed goal was realized. For their countless "extra" hours, devotion to high standards, and outstanding co-operation and good humor through the entire year, I offer my insufficient thanks to the staff for a job so well done. Thank you Paul Frank and Chuck Codol, administration; Jeanie Cantrell and Sue Youngmark, senior section; Cindy Giles, junior section; Cheryl Hickman, sophomore section and index; Lowell Kuehn and Don Alger, clubs section; Lynn Koleto and Barbara McWalters, activities section; Jerry Brooks and Kirk Hanen, athletics; and Candy Currier, GAA section. My special appreciation is given to Kathy Bennett, associate editor, whose endless optimism, common sense, and sympathetic ear carried much of the year's burden and was a great asset to the finished product.

Finally, speaking for the whole staff, I extend warm and sincere thanks to our adviser, Mr. Larry Quille. The vast journalistic knowledge he offered us, and the great confidence he had in our abilities was an integral part of our final success.

To the 1962-63 Anaheim student body we say thank you for creating the year that we were privileged to record. May we have succeeded in keeping alive your memories in a book which was to the '63 Colonist staff "Our own Expression of SPIRIT."

 and how much I want you
 and how much I hope you
 are happy and well
 and how much I love you
 and how much I need you
 and how much I want you
 and how much I hope you
 are happy and well

I am so glad to hear from you
 and how much I love you
 and how much I need you

~~SECRET~~

Roy,
It was since having you in Spanish until you got kicked out. The class hasn't been the same since.
Good Luck always
Bob Evans.

To a real cool head good luck in the coming years

Gary
Hoskins

good luck.
The Lady

It's been a panic in English. It's a disorder we made it really. Have a few more.

See you next year

Have Care of bookrest

P.S. Good Luck

Best Wishes to Always
you

To a
